RUSSIAN MEDALS COMMEMORATE EXPLORATION OF ALASKA

With Vitus Bering's first voyage in 1728, Russia set out to discover the most northwesterly portion of the North American continent. This voyage brought Bering through the Strait that bears his name, but North America was not sighted.

The ship that Bering used on his first voyage, the St. Gabriel (Gavriil) was used on another expedition in 1732. This expedition lead by Gvozdevf and Fedorov landed on Big Diomedede and Little Diomedede. Later, they sighted Cape Prince of Wales, but with no inhabitants visible, no attempt to land was made. They sailed south and attempted to land when habitations were spotted, but could not do so because of shallow water and winds. The St. Gabriel is shown on the first medal of the set of four from the Moscow Mint, distributed by Mezhtumizmatika.

Bering's next voyage in 1741 is generally credited with "discovering" Alaska. Bering was in the St. Peter, while the St. Paul (Pavel) was under the command of Alexeii Chirikov. Chirikov sighted land in the southern part of the panhandle, while Bering's sighting was at the northern end a day later. Noted naturalist Georg Stellar went ashore at Kayak Island. The ships St. Peter and St. Paul are shown on the second and third medal of the set, as well as small portraits of Bering and Chirikov.

In 1778, Capt. James Cook did extensive exploration along the coast of Alaska. Upon meeting Gerassim Gregoriev Ismailov at Unalaska, he was amazed at the lack of information the Russians possessed concerning the coastlines. The Russians later adopted Cook's charts for navigation. The final medal of the set notes the meeting of Capt. Cook and Izmailov in 1778 at Unalaska.

The reverse of each medal bears the mint mark of the Moscow Mint, and the logo of Mezhtumizmatida. They are 39mm and appear to be struck in a copper nickel alloy.

EDITORIAL

Welcome to our 15th year! To those who have already paid for this year, a huge thank you. If you have not paid for your subscription for this year (the top line of your address label ends with #10/92), this will be your last issue.

Yes, the order blank last month was wrong to ask for payment for 1992! It seems that every year, there is some sort of typo related to renewing subscriptions.

If you wish to renew for 1993, please send your subscription fee in as soon as possible.

STATUS REPORT: OK, here I go putting my neck on the chopping block. The long awaited book on Alaskan Stocks and Bonds is in the final preparation stages to go to the printer. As soon as the photos are ready, specifications will be sent to printers for bids. At present, we have listings of over 300 stocks and bonds, with about 100 photos (I think I lost some negatives). With any luck we may go to the printers by April.

NEW PROJECT: We are currently working on an anthology of Alaskan numismatics. A projected table of contents can be found on the next page. Your input is invited and would be appreciated.

For the Record has two exceptional pieces from the Board of Trade in Nome. See page 5 for these.

As always, we are in need of articles, space fillers and items for For the Record and Paper Potpourri. Please share your knowledge with others (and make my life easier in the bargain!).

GOLD, SILVER & PAPER

From "Masks in a Pageant" by William Allen White.

"In 1900 Bryan (ed. note: William Jennings Bryan) found that the silver sentiment was dying in the West. The gold mines of Alaska and of Africa had inflated the currency to a point where the per-capita of gold money was almost as high as the per-capita of fiat money, which Bryan had advocated. Bryan would not have lost an electoral vote by abandoning silver; he would have gained thousands of votes in the East by such a course. He did not study the situation for excuses to change his position. What study he gave to it was for answers to refute gold-bugs. He believed that the free coinage of silver was right."

For those not familiar with the term "fiat money", it is money declared to be such by the government, but without precious metal backing. Therefore, the currency in circulation today is fiat money good only because of the faith people put in it.

And now, from the Douglas Island News, a few items relating to gold and gold and silver coinage.

October 23, 1901:

7800 free miners' licenses were issued in Dawson for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1901.

April 23, 1902:

Golden Eagles and all other kinds of American money are accepted by Canadian Customs officials at White Horse only at a discount of 1 per cent. In explanation for the late rule the officials state that they are simply following a precedent set by the White Horse banks. This reason is not accepted by many, and it is the more general opinion that the cause of the decrease in the valuation of United States currency is an attempt to even up matters with Americans who discount Canadian money along the boundary states and in Alaska.

February 15, 1905:

The people of Fairbanks would like a coinage of free silver just now. There is a scarcity of the white metal coins in that camp and the business men are paying four per cent premium for it.

THE JUNEAU HOTEL

The Largest Hotel in Alaska.
Best Furnished Rooms in the City.
(From the Daily Alaska Dispatch,
Special Mining Edition
March 27, 1900)

There are several good hotels in Juneau, and this feature of the town favorably impresses strangers and somewhat surprises them upon their first visit. The citizens of Juneau have much to be proud of in the splendid hotel accommodations they are able to offer to their friends and business correspondents from other cities. One deserving special mention is the Juneau Hotel. This house was built a few years since on Second street near Seward, and at first the size of the house appeared to be almost too great for the city at that time, and did not seem to prosper.

In May 1898 Mr. W.W. Casey became manager, and from that time on it has been one of the leader hostelries of the place, as well as enjoyed a most flattering home trade.

It is the largest hotel in the district of Alaska, with a large and commodious dining room, and the table always loaded with the very best viands the markets afford. It has 68 rooms furnished completely in the very best manner and is possessed with all of the comforts and conveniences for the accommodation of one hundred guests.

The ladies parlor is large and homelike and the entire building is lighted throughout with electric lights, and supplied with city water. The building being new, everything about the place is fresh and clean, a condition the public are not slow to appreciate.

The front page article was duplicated exactly from the original, with the exception of a few spelling corrections. All grammatical errors are the responsibility of the original author. So, you sharp eyed proof readers out there in subscriber land, you can't blame the editor this time!

Jim Robb has come through with another grouping of items from Yukon. The meal ticket is very interesting!

Candy Waugaman of Chena Ventures has put together a listing of the Skagway White Pass Dance Hall money with 13 different varieties. While an advertisement, it will be included in the index because it provides some previously unrecorded information.

Well, folks, the well has run dry. We need more articles, fillers, For the Record, etc. So, if you have some information for an article, write the article, or send it to us, and we will do it. DAWSON CHECK

Above is an interesting check sent in by Brian Denman. Issued on the Canadian Bank of Commerce, it was deposited in the Bank of Montreal, both in Dawson. It also bears a brown, 2 cents War Tax stamp.

The history of this hotel will demonstrate to the most skeptic that the most important agency in the success of a hostelry is its management. Mr. W.W. Casey, manager of the Juneau Hotel is an ideal hotel man and has had over 20 years experience. He ran a hotel in Montana seven years, and one in Snohomish Washington twelve years before taking charge of his present establishment. His cordial and cheerful manner together with his open hearted generosity is most agreeable qualities in a hosteller, both to his guests and the citizens with whom he has business and social intercourse. These characteristics have won for him a host of friends, among those of all the various walk of life, and there is probably not a man in Juneau today that can rally at his call more warm personal friends than Mr. Casey. It is not alone his personal magnetism that has established his success in Juneau, but his shrewd intuition of the wants of the public, and his correct business management have been most important factors in building up a bulwark of safety around him that must endure.

Mr. Casey is also quite largely interested in mining. He owns a promising property at Index Wash. also a placer on McKinley creek, in the Porcupine section, from which some gold was taken out last year; sufficient to show that the claim is valuable, and it is to be systematically opened up and worked the coming summer.

He owns an interest in a quartz property about eight miles from Dyea that promises much for the future. However, he gives little or no personal attention to any business outside of the management of his large hotel.

LUGGAGE LABELS

Some time ago, Bary Bender sent in copies of some "luggage labels". These were decals or stickers tourists would put on their suitcases and steamer trunks to brag about where they had been. Since the preceding article was about a hotel, we thought we would show you a couple of these labels from hotels that also had tokens. Unfortunately, we do not have the colors of the labels on record.

The first is from Cordova and Chitina. The top portion may be too dark to reproduce: "The gateway and terminal of the Copper River Railroad with its Golden Opportunities." The MacCormac Hotel and S.O. (Oscar) Breedman had tokens.

The second is from the Occidental Hotel, issuer of many tokens.

Our thanks to Bary Bender for providing copies of these labels.

OFFICIAL ALASKA STATE MEDALS

Starting in 1989, the State of Alaska authorized the minting of official state medals. The state did not mint them, design them or sell them. They sat back and waited for the huge royalty check to roll in as promised by the accepted proposal. In the first three years, the program was not a screaming success. Royalties paid to the state were modest. The contractor during these first three years was Alaska Precious Metals. In 1991, Alaska Precious Metals filed for bankruptcy. The program was taken over in 1992 by the Anchorage Mint, now known as the Alaska Mint.

The first three years of the program were marked by poor designs and marginal die engraving. While the designs may have looked good on paper, only one translated into an attractive medal - the 1989 gold with an Inuit (Eskimo). Product quality was also a problem, especially for the 1990 one ounce silver, with many produced with a "railroad" rim (the blank only partially enclosed in the collar, giving only partial reeding).

The 1992 medal is far superior to any of the previous designs. The bold eagle design is well executed. The illustrations we have seen of the 1993 "Wolf" medal are also excellent, and this is sure to be a popular issue (with a little help from the wolf controversy).

"Proof" versions of the one ounce silver and gold medals were also made. In the first three years, there was very little difference in the quality of the first business strikes and the proofs. The difference is greater on the 1992 issue, but not as marked as one would hope for. The Alaska Mint did use a different reverse die on the proof, so if not by quality alone, the two can be differentiated.

The mintages below will give you an idea of the relative scarcity of each medal.

Size/metal	1989	1990	1991	1992*
	Design - Polar Bear	Walrus	Salmon	Eagle
1/10 silver	1934	1600		100
1/4 silver	1287	1100		750
1/2 silver	1932	1300		0
1 ounce silver	9085	9166		3500
1 ounce proof	1700	1250		3000
	Design - Inuit	Puffin		Eagle
1/10 gold	217	120		120
1/4 gold	103	0		0
1/2 gold	49	0		7
1 ounce gold	161	25		20
1 ounce proof	71	17		0

* Approximate as of December, 1992.

There is some question if there were a total of 42 (uncirculated and proof) 1 ounce gold struck in 1990. No mintage figures have been released for 1991, and it appears that there were no gold struck.

We have most of the uncirculated silver in stock. Our price list is on the next page. The 1993 "Wolf" will be available shortly. We are now accepting orders for the one ounce silver. Watch future issues of ATC&PN for information on ordering the other sizes (1 oz. silver proof and 1/4 oz. silver, 1/10 and 1 oz. gold), hopefully by March

MONTH OF MISTAKES!

As luck would have it, four days after we mailed the February issue, the final mintages came in on the 1992 official Alaska medals. There are some increases, as it appears the reported low mintages prompted last minute orders. These mintages can be found on page 15. Prices quoted in last month's issue are still in effect.

As expected, the 1993 "Wolf" medals have arrived. We received our first shipment of 50, and then a second shipment of 150. Surprise! The first fifty were struck with a plain edge, while the rest had a reeded edge. We do not have any mintage figures on the plain edge, but it will be a small portion of the total mintage. These are available while they last for $20 each. There is a similar error on the 1989, and these are $40.

The Proof version of the "Wolf" medal has also arrived. The major difference between these and the "proof-like" medals is that the edge is hallmarked with the mint name and they are serial numbered. These are $24.95, and come in a display box.

The 1993 Iditarod medals are also now available. The limited mintage has been raised from 2,000 to 5,000, and this increase is found in the mintage statement on the reverse. We were only able to obtain 25 singles, as the Rotary Club in Anchorage has committed to the balance of the issue. These are available for $35.

We also ordered the remaining available 1990 Iditarod (152 of 2,000), and 25 each of the 1991 and 1992. These were produced at the same time as the 1993 medals. These were to have the limited to 2,000 statement on the reverse. When the mint was finished striking the 1993 medals, they failed to change the reverse die, so all that we received have the 1993 statement limiting the mintage to 5,000. The mint's agent in Anchorage was not amused when we reported this to him. He has promised a letter stating that only 152 of the 1990, and 25 each of the 1991 and 1992 medals were struck with the incorrect statement.

Here is one of the largest newsletters we have ever done - 11 pages. Mostly ads, but some as informative as they are advertising.

A letter confirming the Iditarod errors is on page 16. We also thought we would be limited on the number of 1993's we could get but it seems the Rotary's sales are not good, and more will be available, thus the price reduction on the order blank.

The Alaskana lots for our auction March 27th are also enclosed in this issue.

There is one lot to which I would like to call your attention. As I am writing this before we have assigned lot numbers, I cannot tell you the number. It is the lot of Alaska & Yukon Paper Items. Most of these were sent to ATC&PN as items "For the Record" or for "Paper Potpourri". We do not personally collect much of this (I do collect the Yukon material myself!). Because it was given to us, I cannot justify selling it, and thus make a profit on a gift. In the past, we have passed some on to other collectors. But this time, we thought we would do some good with it. Love INC (Love in the name of Christ) is a local agency providing assistance for people that fall through the cracks and cannot get assistance from other agencies, government or private. They do good work here in Fairbanks without public (government) money. They run completely on private donations of money and time. Therefore, 100% of the price realized from this lot will be donated to Love INC. If you saw a piece of collectible paper in ATC&PN in the last year or so, it could very well be in this lot! Please bid liberally.

WOLF LICENSE

Les Hill sent in the above, with a quote from a book about the Stikine region.

"to locate George Engelmann, an old wolfer, seventy-four, who is noteworthy because he got seven wolves on Etolin Island last year."

Could the ETO on the tag refer to Etolin Island? And what does the MTO (or MTC) refer to? Is this a license to own a wolf (probably unlikely), or a tag that had to be purchased before you could hunt or trap a wolf and then use it to tag the pelt?

Any input would be appreciated.

NEW GREENLAND TOKEN

Reports of new tokens from Greenland are very infrequent. The above was in Jerry Schimmel's recent mail bid sale where it was grouped with another Greenland token already reported.

It is for the Nan-Grill. It is brass, 26mm, with the same design on both sides. 20 Kroner is equivalent to approximately $3.20 US. Nanortalik is the district center for Greenland's most southerly district, on the southwest coast, just north of 60°.

Dear Jerry,

This letter is to verify that an error in mintage was made on some of the Iditarod Limited Edition Coins that you received.

The years 1990, 1991 and 1992 should read a total Limited Edition of 2,000. Instead, you received several with a quantity of 5,000 as is the true L.E. amount for the 1993 coin. The quantities that contain the error involved are as follows:

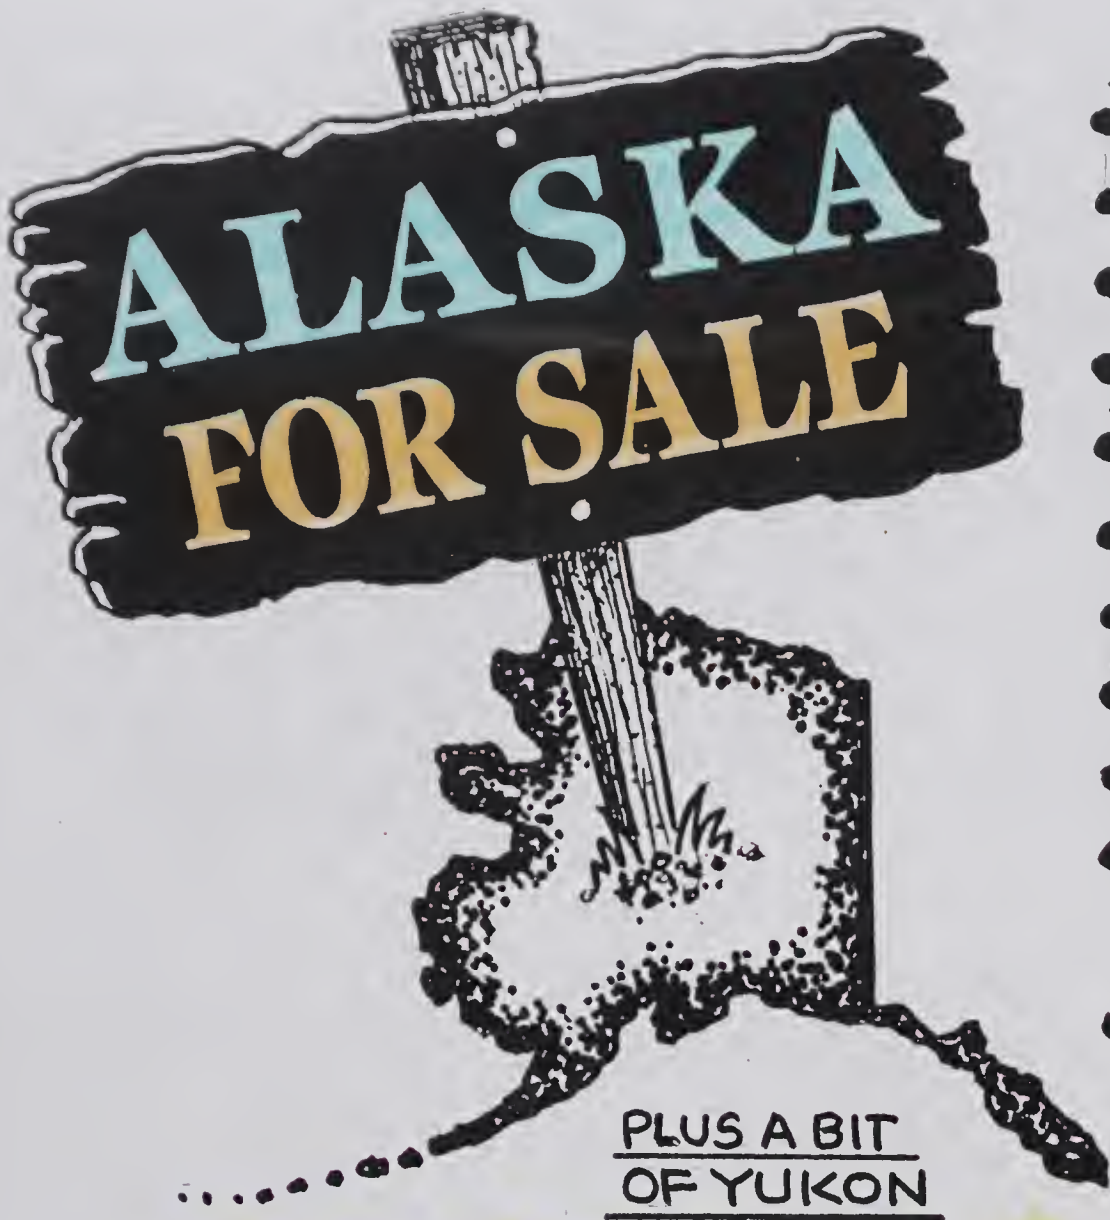

152 ea-1990
25 ea-1991
25 ea-1992

Sincerely,

Gary Hedberg
Vice President and General Manager

AUCTION: TO BE HELD AT 7:00, MARCH 27th IN FAIRBANKS. These are just the Alaskan items. If you want a complete listing, please call or write. Send bids to the address above. Phone bids may be called in between 10AM and 5PM Alaska time, Monday through Saturday.

- 214 ALASKA TOKEN: Fairbanks, Pioneer Hotel, Good for 5 cents in trade (B-35aI). Also, U.S. Customs bag seal, marked "USC/in transit/baggage/Eagle/Alaska/166. Quite an interesting piece. 30.00+
- 215 FAIRBANKS: Days of '98 carnival scrip, $1 and $20. Sponsored by the American Legion in 1938, these are the only two that we have ever seen. Paper items are much more fragile than tokens, and items like these just seem not to be saved. Green on pink and green on yellow, respectively. The condition appears to be as issued. Two pieces. 60.00+
- 216 ELONGATED CENTS: Six elongated cents by Bert Samsa of Fairbanks; Golden Days Drags, 1984 (1 of 500); Golden Days, 1984 (1 of 500); Alaska State Fair, 1984; 50th Anniversary of the Fairbanks Curling Club, 1985; Tanana Valley State Fair, 1985; Gold Panner. All on 1959 cents except the T.V. S.F. is on a 1985. 15.00
- 217 ALASKAN MEDALS: Fairbanks 1959 trade dollar struck in bronze in 1965. Also Homer Museum (Purchase) Centennial Souvenir, 1967 in sterling silver. 35.00
- 218 ALASKAN MEDALS: Fairbanks: Pioneer Memorial Park, "A-67". Fairbanks was the official site for the centennial celebration of the purchase of Alaska from Russia. These medals commemorate the centennial and the park that has become known as Alaskaland. Issued in sterling silver and bronze, we offer here four matched number sets, eight pieces total. 60.00+
- 219 Official Alaska 1/10 oz. Silver Medal, 1989. This was the first year of the medal program (House Bill 10) and the winning design was Doug Lindstrand's polar bear on ice. Only 1,934 were struck. For a brief period, Alaska Precious Metals also had some special bezels made for these in two styles, rope and teardrop. They quit making these after a short time. This medal is in the original rope bezel which is very nicely done and a neat part of the history of the first year of the program. 25.00
- 220 FAIRBANKS: Six different checks on the First National Bank of Fairbanks from the 30's and 40's. Interesting assortment. 15.00+
- 221 ALASKA & YUKON PAPER ITEMS: Over the years, many people have sent in many items to be included in our newsletter, Alaskan Token Collector & Polar Numismatist. We really appreciate this input, but have ended up with an envelope of neat material that we, in good conscience, cannot sell. Well, we hit upon a solution to this problem. 100% of the price realized from this lot will go to Love In the Name of Christ (Love INC), a charitable organization that is totally contribution supported that works with the people that fall through the cracks of all the government agencies and social service organizations. Currently, this lot is comprised of 55 items, with some duplication. If more come in before the auction, this will also be added! Includes advertising scrip, percent off coupons, money off coupons (the coupons are not the clip from the newspaper type), Denali bus tickets, "punch or premium" cards, etc. Surely to please the collector of pseudo-numismatic material. Probably about 50/50, Alaska and Yukon. Easily worth $100 or more, bid liberally with the knowledge that the money will go to a good cause! 100.00+
- 222 Stereoview Cards: Two cards showing Dawson, Yukon. The first is titled "Street in Dawson City, Klondike", in black and white. The second is titled "View down Front St., Dawson City, Alaska". This one is in color. Neither are real photo cards. Two nice cards for the Yukon collector. 20.00+

- 223 Alaska Book: The Chicago Record's Book for Gold Seekers, a reprint, but not of the entire original. Paper bound, with ads for White's Electronics Metal Detectors. We have sold White's for 18 years, and have never seen the ones pictured in these ads! Also, Seattle Fur Exchange date book for 1929. The leather cover has a map of Alaska. Inside is general information, information on fur sales, and color maps. Neat lot. 25.00+
- 224 Dawson, Y.T. advertising cards for "Dirty Dog Saloon, Billey, The PUG, Prop." Set of two, black on yellow and black on pink. The back of the pink card has a risqué story, while the yellow an interesting poem. These are probably novelty items, and not truly an advertising card. Also included are two collectors cards from the Sergeant Preston series: Customs Post on the Chilkoot Pass" (#30) and "King to the Rescue (#24). An interesting lot of four cards. 30.00+
- 225 Alaska Gold Stamps. Stamp saving booklet with one full page of stamps (24). Stamps are printed goldish yellow on white, booklet is goldish yellow on off-white. Inside lists locations giving out the stamps, all in Anchorage. An interesting collectible. 10.00+
- 226 Midnight Sun Beer Label, The Pioneer Brewing Co., Inc., Fairbanks, Alaska. Very nice, multi-colored label with the midnight sun, and Pioneer Brewing logo. Also included, Courtesy Card of the Pioneer Taxi (B-T6III). A total of two pieces in this lot. 25.00
- 227 The Good Luck Bank of Alaska Advertising Note. "Will Pay on the Point of a Pick One Thousand Dollars per Day Gold Standard, State of Excitement." Back is an advertisement for J.G. & B.S. Ferguson, Boston, MA, bakers. Very popular. Also included huge "Black Diamond Certificate, One Hundred Cheechako Bucks." Three folds and a 1/2 inch tear at center. 2 pcs. 100.00
- 233 Gent's Gold Nugget and Gold Coin Watchband. This band was originally made by "KW" (Ken Wharburton, although we are not sure of the spelling) which was a manufacturer some years ago. The back is 10KT and each side has large, chunky overlay with $2 1/2 Indians. One coin is set with the obverse out, while the other shows the reverse. This has been restored with a new Speidel expansion band. Retail originally around $1,800. 800.00-900.00
- 234 Lady's 14KT Bracelet. 7.25 inches long. Each link is oval in shape with the top diamond cut giving it a very sparkly look, as if it had diamonds. Used, but shows no wear. Retail was about $200. 5.9 grams total weight. 90.00-100.00
- 235 Gent's Cuff Links. Ivory with small center nuggets. Excellent shape. New, about $60. 30.00
- 236 Gold Charms. Small Billiken made by J.L. Houston in 10KT. Also, a skier in 14KT, also by JLH. Both are new and originally from the inventory in Heinz Borchard's estate. These currently retail for $288. Wholesale is about... 150.00
- 237 Miscellaneous Charms. Sterling include an Alaskan oil derrick and a wagon. Three others are sterling with gold plate, showing the Constitution, a name tag (blank) and a lottery disc. Four other charms are gold filled or other base metals showing two discs and two hearts. New, these were about $75. 35.00
- 210 Large Size Silver Certificate, 1923, VG. This is the last of the large size bills before they were changed to the current size. Also, three Alaskan medals: Fairbanks 1959 trade dollar; Sitka 1963 trade dollar; and a 1976 American Revolution Bicentennial medal from Homer. Finally, a cacheted cover for the Third Annual Iditarod Sled Dog Race from 1974, slightly wrinkled. A total of 5 items. 40.00

SCRIMSHAWED WALRUS TUSKS

We have been very fortunate this winter to purchase a number of scrimshawed walrus tusks by Alaskan artist John Bailey. Mr. Bailey does three basic scenes as illustrated below. These tusks range in size from 11 inches to 25 inches. Prices range from $200 to $450.

Walrus use their tusks for digging. Tusks can chip or even break. Some of the pieces below have been "reshaped" to eliminate this natural damage. The artist has finished it off so that the damaged portion has been removed, leaving a solid piece of ivory. This is very common, especially on longer tusks where the central core will show through the surface. These will be noted as "reshaped" or with the simple explanation that the central core appears somewhere on the tusk. When the central core does show, it is on the opposite side from the scrim and is not visible when the tusk is displayed. Really, I am making more of this than I should, but I want you to have a good idea of what you will receive.

Since each piece is unique, it is quite impossible to give a complete description. Below are 9 pieces with design, length and any obvious defects. Bear in mind that the scrim on these tusks will not be exactly like those illustrated. All have had the root end of the tusk capped, most with whale baleen, some with bone.

- | | |
|---|--------|
| 1) Bear: 11" reshaped tusk with baleen cap. | 200.00 |
| 2) Bear with paw prints: 13" with baleen cap. | 260.00 |
| 3) Bear: 17", central core on last 6", baleen cap. | 350.00 |
| 4) Geese: 12", 2 cracks on the underside at the root end that do no detract from the piece, baleen cap. | 200.00 |
| 5) Larger Geese: 18", central core at tip, baleen cap. | 350.00 |
| 6) Geese as shown, plus standing goose: 24", central core about half way from tip, baleen cap. | 450.00 |
| 7) Walrus: 12", nice little tusk, bone cap. | 260.00 |
| 8) Walrus: 17", core at tip, baleen cap. | 350.00 |
| 9) 3 Walrus: 25", core about half way back from tip, baleen cap. This piece has a little dark spot on the middle walrus, noticeable but natural. The coloration on this tusk indicates that it may be an older tusk (mineralized) rather than one from a recent hunt. | 440.00 |

APRIL, 1993.

THE LAST FRONTIER MEETS THE FINAL FRONTIER

SPECIAL BULLETIN: January 28, 1993.

The highway was closed for six hours after a Black Brant rocket carrying a payload to study the aurora exploded on lift off. The debris was scattered over a large area, including three miles of highway. Launch personnel were not injured, protected in the block house. NASA scientist speculated that the first stage rocket motor exploded about two seconds after lift off. The payload was valued at between $1 and $5 million dollars.

Most people will read this introduction, and assume that this mishap occurred in Florida or California. In fact, the launch took place at the Poker Flat Research Range, 35 miles north of Fairbanks, at mile 30 on the Steese Highway.

It will come as a surprise to many that the Poker Flat Research Range is 24 years old, and the only University operated launch facility in the United States. It is owned and operated by the Geophysical Institute of the University of Alaska at Fairbanks. Since 1969, over 246 major high altitude rocket experiments have been launched, as well as over 1,400 meteorological rocket launchings.

A medal was issued to commemorate the 75th anniversary of the University of Alaska. The Elvey Building with the Synthetic Aperture Radar dish overlooks the Agricultural Experiment Station, with the aurora slashing across the sky.

So you have finally decided to visit Alaska. You arrive in Fairbanks and are tired, so you relax in your hotel room, and settle down to watch some television. All of a sudden, you are facing Capt. Jean-Luc Picard (Patrick Stewart of "Star Trek: the Next Generation") hyping a long distance telephone service. How inappropriate, you think. Not so! Alascom has had two satellites, Aurora I and Aurora II.

Aurora I was launched on October 28, 1982 from Cape Canaveral, Florida atop a McDonnell Douglas Delta 3924 rocket. It was placed in a permanent geosynchronous orbit 22,300 miles above the equator due south of the Alaska-Canada border. Lifespan was expected to be about

Spring seems to be coming early here, but we know it is just a cruel joke! But who knows, after last year's May and September, the worst on record, maybe we'll get a break!

Mail bidder participation in our recent auction on the Alaskan section was a disappointment. As you will not, there were many good buys, and some serious bid reductions. Most disappointing was the lot of Alaskan and Yukon paper items. There were no mail bids on this lot, and it sold to a floor bidder for only $20. We hope that more of you will participate in our October auction.

This was a fun issue to put together. Along with the information we always bring you, this month offers a few items for sale that I think you will really enjoy, like the book in the next column! And it is the time for all good Catholics to come to the aid of your editor (a nonCatholic), and help lighten the load of Papal Visit packages! Really, these are weighing down the shelves in the back room!

With any luck, by the next issue, I will report summer baseball has begun.

BOOK REVIEW

Tales of Alaska and the Yukon, compiled by Frank Oppel, 1986. Hard bound, 469 pages.

Rarely do I pick up a book and think, "this thing will sell." This was such a book.

It is comprised of contemporary articles about Alaska and the Yukon. Dating from 1871 to 1910, these apparently are taken from magazines of the times. If you have a collection of Alaskan articles from Harpers then you will probably find some of them here. It is unfortunate that they are not attributed to their original source. Sometimes this can be determined, as is the case with the second article in the book. "The Great River of Alaska" was published in two parts, and the second part is the title page for Volume XXX, No. 6 of The Century Magazine. The Outing magazine is also represented.

There are articles here covering the spectrum that is Alaska. Mining, geography, whaling, hunting, fishing, Indians, Fur Seals, Eskimos, geology, touring, fiction, railroads, coal.... the list could go on and on. Authors include Tappan Adney, James Kidder, Alfred Dunham, Lucy Washburn, Samuel Moffett, Jack London, Robert Dunn and Vilhjalmr Stefansson.

The original author's name is given when known, and the articles are accompanied by engravings, photos and maps that were published with the article.

While the prose may not be flowing and also quite dated, these articles represent what the common person was reading about Alaska and the Yukon at the time.

I was so excited by this find, that I immediately called the publisher to see if it was still in print. Fortunately for us, it is, and we are awaiting 24 copies. By the time you receive this issue, they should be in stock and ready to ship. A great value and a great assortment of articles. Even if you have collected the originals, this is a worthwhile book to add to your library. You may even want to buy early for Christmas.

These are available for $15, postpaid by book rate. Please use the order blank on the last page.

ten years. Unfortunately, a wobble developed, and its orbit was not as permanent as planned. It went out of service shortly before the launch of Aurora II.

Aurora II was propelled into space on May 31, 1991 also from Cape Canaveral. The launch vehicle was a McDonnell Douglas Delta II 7925, the most powerful Delta to date. It was also placed in a geosynchronous orbit.

Medals to commemorate both satellites have been issued.

The Aurora I medal shows the satellite with its solar panels deployed. The reverse has Alascom's logo. It is known to have been struck with at least three different edges (fine or medium reeding, and reeded with a plain portion). This indicates that at least three different orders were placed. Struck by Tri-State Refiners in Sioux Falls, South Dakota, the total mintage is unknown.

The Aurora II medal was first struck in 1991. The obverse has the logo design of the satellite. The reverse carries Alascom's logo, along with the dates 1971 - 1991, indicating 10 years of service to "the Last Frontier".

Both medals are used as public relations tools. Some are used for presentation as the "Alascom Iditarod Halfway Award". This is awarded to the first musher to reach the halfway point in the Iditarod

Sled Dog Race from Anchorage to Nome. This year the $3,000 prize consisted of 539 one ounce silver medals. That's $5.57 per ounce. Hm. Silver is only about $3.65 per ounce!

They have also been used as prizes in the Yukon Quest (a 1,000 mile sled dog race from Fairbanks to Whitehorse, Yukon), the Yukon 800 (an 800 mile riverboat race from Fairbanks to Galena and back), and the Irondog (a snow machine race along the Iditarod Trail).

Alascom is one of two long distance carriers in the state. GCI has retaliated in the advertising war, claiming the "Captain has gone over to the dark side." So far, GCI has not issued a competing medal.

Finally, if the Space Shuttle cannot land in Florida or California, where is the third option? Rumor has it that it was originally Eielson Air Force Base, about 26 miles east of Fairbanks. I won't say we were routing for a diversion to Eielson, but it sure would have made a flashy medal!

NEW ZEALAND $5 NOTE

Depicted on the $5 note from New Zealand is Sir Edmund Hillary. Hillary is best known as the first person to climb Mt. Everest. Less well known is that he was part of the first crossing of the Antarctic continent between 1955 and 1958.

The expedition leader was Sir Vivian Fuchs. His party was to cross the continent from the Weddell Sea to the Ross Ice Shelf, via the South Pole. Hillary's job was to lay supply depots between the Ross Ice Shelf and the Pole.

The note bears a portrait of Hillary, looking upon Mt. Everest. Below the mountain is a Ferguson tractor, the vehicle that Hillary drove to the Pole.

The back of the note features a yellow-eyed penguin, native to New Zealand, thought to be the most endangered member of the penguin family. The yellow-eyed penguin was also featured on the 1988 $1 coin (illustrated in the right column).

The note is predominantly orange on the front, brown and yellow on the back. Security features include a metal strip (passing through Mt. Everest) and a watermark of Queen Elizabeth II.

TWO BOOKS

In addition to "Tales of Alaska and the Yukon", two other books are available.

The first is "Sharing Alaska's Oral History". This is proceedings of a conference held in Anchorage in 1982. Methods for gathering information are examined.

"National Issues and Research Priorities in the Arctic" discusses many scientific disciplines as they relate to the arctic. It was published in 1985.

Because of shipping costs, these are available only with the purchase of "Tales of Alaska and the Yukon" for $1 each. Please use the order blank on the last page.

POPE JOHN PAUL II VISITS ALASKA

ON FEBRUARY 26, 1981, POPE JOHN PAUL II VISITED ALASKA FOR THE FIRST TIME WHEN HE CAME TO ANCHORAGE.

ON HAND FOR THE VISIT WAS STEWART N. ROTHMAN, REGISTERED MASTER PHOTOGRAPHER. MR. ROTHMAN PRODUCED A SET OF FOUR, 11 X 14 PHOTOS, AND A COMMEMORATIVE PROGRAM. AFTER THE POPE'S VISIT TO FAIRBANKS IN 1985, WE PURCHASED THE REMAINING STOCK OF THE PHOTOS AND PROGRAMS.

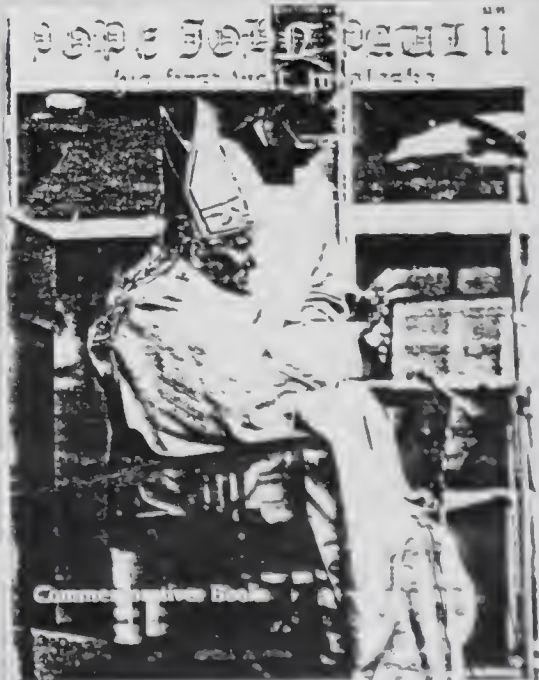

THE FOUR PHOTOS, WITH A "NINE-INCH 33-1/3 RPM MONAURAL COPY OF THE ON-LOCATION RECORDING OF THE HOMILY IN THE HOLY FATHER'S VOICE" ORIGINALLY SOLD FOR $9.85. THE PROGRAM SOLD FOR $2.95.

WE ARE SELLING THE PHOTOS, RECORDING AND PROGRAM FOR ONLY $4.50, POSTPAID. THIS IS LESS THAN ONE HALF OF THE ORIGINAL PRICE.

POPE JOHN PAUL II RETURNED TO ALASKA IN 1984, MEETING PRESIDENT REAGAN IN FAIRBANKS. IT WAS A COLD, DRIZZLY DAY, THAT TURNED TO SNOW BY AFTERNOON.

A 1 OUNCE SILVER MEDAL WAS ISSUED TO COMMEMORATE THE EVENT. ONLY 2,700 WERE STRUCK. WE STILL HAVE A FEW AVAILABLE AT THE ORIGINAL ISSUE PRICE OF $30.00.

IF YOU WISH TO ORDER, PLEASE USE THE ORDER BLANK ON THE LAST PAGE.

THE WOLF SUMMIT MEDAL

The population of moose and caribou in several game management areas have been decreasing rapidly. The Alaska Department of Fish and Game determined that the solution to this decreasing population was predator (wolf) control. This past winter, the State of Alaska met with all sides concerned with predator control. "All sides" means every one from those who want no predator control, to those that would like to see the wolf eradicated. They devised a plan to lower the population of wolves in these game management areas by aerial hunting.

When this plan became public knowledge, the environmental groups "outside" went nuts. A tourism boycott was called in November, and lifted a month later. Tourism officials estimate this cut in-state tourism spending by 13%.

Paid Political Advertisement

Clip this out and send to a prospective visitor:

VISIT ALASKA THIS SUMMER OR THE WOLF BITES IT!

Poles done in the state showed that Alaskans opposed the State's aerial hunting plan ranging from 2-1 to as much as 4-1.

Alaskans in general do not like to be threatened, be it personally, or as a population. The threat from outside environmental groups just didn't set right with one Fairbanksan. The masked man came to our rescue with a touch of humor that we have seen fit to reproduce.

You can own this environmental (or anti-environmental) statement. See the order blank on the last page!

EDITORIAL

I tried to present the facts on the front page. Since this is the Editorial, now to some opinions.

Alaskans, probably more than any other group in the U.S. hate to be threatened by any one. It does not matter if it is big government, big business, or the environmental lobby. Many here cheered the threatened tourism boycott, not because they oppose predator control, but because they felt the ones that would honor the boycott are the ones we would want to keep out of the state!

While most Alaskans opposed the plan, I believe that most support predator control to help boost moose and caribou populations. If the State chose to hire trappers and hunters to eliminate some of the wolves in the management areas, and kept them on the ground, this fiasco would not have happened.

If poles showed such strong opposition to the plan, why was it chosen?

It is my belief that the most objectionable plan was selected to create the environmental up-roar. Those environmentalists involved in the decision to use aerial hunting knew that it would create a national controversy, focusing environmental attention on Alaska once again.

Such a good cause was justification for a feeding frenzy of appeals for funds to "save the wolf", from any "green" organization from Boston to Malibu. After all, without controversy, these organizations would be broke, and the "presidents" would have to get a real job.

Let's face it. Environmentalism is big business. Big business and big government create the environmental disasters, big business gets to come in and clean it up, while environmental organizations rake in the big $$$ in donations. Every one makes money, except the small gas station owners and the small miners that cannot afford the regulations imposed by the big bureaucracy.

But the bottom line is this: wolves are not endangered in Alaska!

BOOK REVIEW

Whiskey Peddler: Johnny Healy, North Frontier Trader, by William R. Hunt, Mountain Press Publishing Co., Missoula, MT, 1993.

A well known personage in early Alaska, John J. Healy settled in Dyea in 1886 and founded Healy & Wilson. Later Healy, along with Portus B. Weare and John Cudahy founded the North American Transportation and Trading Co. (NAT&T). Both of these entities issued tokens listed in Benice's "Alaska Tokens".

The first 106 pages detail the earlier years of Healy's life. While we are quite familiar with his exploits in Alaska, he is also prominent in the history of early Montana, and even Alberta, Canada.

In 1869, Healy and A.B. Hamilton moved north from Montana to Alberta and founded Fort Hamilton, 4 miles from Lethbridge. Unfortunately, the name Fort Hamilton did not stick, and the fort became known as the notorious Fort Whoop-up.

Healy's exploits in Alaska are detailed, right down to the failure of the Trans-Alaska-Siberian Railway.

Names of traders abound in the book. I.G. Baker issued tokens, and sold out to the Hudson's Bay Co. (see "Medals Tokens and Paper Money of the Hudson's Bay Company" by Larry Gingras). Well, worthwhile reading by the token collector. If you would like a copy, please use the order blank on the last page.

MEDALS FROM THE NENANA VALLEY

In the late 60's and early 70's, there was a very active group of collectors in the Healy-Clear-Nenana area, known as the Nenana Valley. This group was responsible for the issuance of three medals. All were made by Wendells of Minneapolis.

No order of issue can be established. One medal has no date, while the other two are dated 1972.

The Mount McKinley National Park "Souvenir Medallion" was probably the first issued. The medal depicts the old hotel in the park that burned down in 1972. These were struck in sterling silver and a copper-nickel alloy.

Dated 1972, the Nenana Valley Chamber of Commerce "Redeemable Souvenir Dollar" was probably the next medal issued. It was also struck in sterling silver and a copper-nickel alloy.

The last issue is probably the most interesting. This is also dated 1972. Nothing on the medal indicates that it was made to the order of this group of collectors. It may actually have been made for an individual. But, it does originate from the Nenana-Healy-Clear area.

The obverse of the medal has the legend "The Discovery of Gold/Yukon 1896*Nome 1899*Fairbanks 1902". A gold panner by a stream with mountains in the background make up the central portion. The reverse legend is "1867*Alaska*1972/Built on the Quest for Gold." A gold dredge is the central design.

This medal was struck in .999 fine silver weighing 1.075 ounces. It was also struck in copper, a bit unusual as most medals of the era were a bronze or brass alloy.

What makes this neat is that the miner's gold pan was oversized to hold a small amount of gold. This gold was glued into the pan. The silver medals all had the gold, while the copper was made both with and without the gold.

It seems that about 20 years after a medal is issued, it starts to turn up in estate sales. The preceding are no exception. These have been trickling in for the last couple of years. Only recently, though, have we had any quantity so we can offer them at prices lower than in the past.

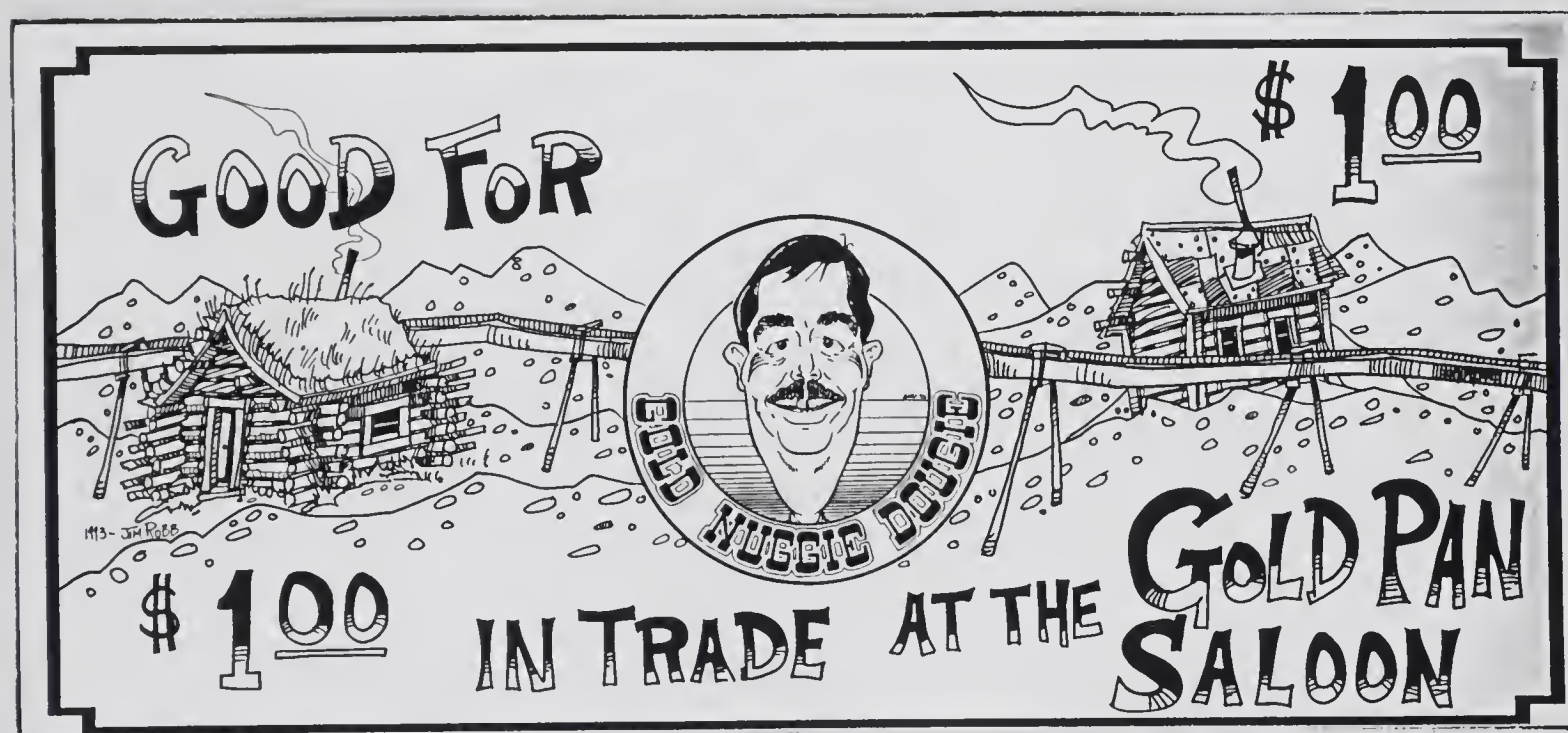

If you would like to order, please use the order blank on the last page.

NEW GREENLAND TOKEN REPORTED

Jørgen Smod has reported a laundry token from Søndre Strømfjord. It is uniface, simply marked K G H (Konglige Gronlandske Handel for the Royal Greenland Trading Company) above and SSTR for Søndre Strømfjord.

It is the approximate size of a British 2 Shilling coin. Wonder if they were using machines with British coin mechanisms?

WHITEHORSE, YT: Gold Rush Inn, Good for $1.00 in trade at the Gold Pan Saloon. Black on tan, 154mm by 70mm. The center designs are by Steve Shepard, while the rest is done by Jim Robb (Ed. note: in his very distinctive style).

WHITEHORSE, YT: Northern Wonders Gifts Discount Coupon, 5% discount. Light blue on tan, 120mm by 56mm.

"SEALSKIN" NOTES TO BE AUCTIONED

The International Paper Money Show in Memphis from June 18 to June 20 will be the site of the largest sale of Russian American Company notes ever held.

The auction, conducted by R.M. Smythe Co. includes 15 pieces of Russian American Co. scrip. These were acquired by Russell Kaye in March at an antique auction in Connecticut as one lot, along with 260 other pieces of currency and ephemera. The hammer price for this huge lot was $26,000 (plus a 10% buyer's fee of $2,600). For more information, see the May 1993 issue of Bank Note Reporter.

Catalogues can be obtained for $12.50 from R.M. Smythe Co., 26 Broadway, Suite 271, New York, NY 10004-1701. This is a catalogue that anyone remotely interested in Alaskan numismatics should have!

TROPICAL/POLAR

The Cook Islands have struck again with a series of coins honoring polar explorers. On the theme of "500 Years of America, 1492-1992", Alexander MacKenzie, John Davis and Vitus Bering are featured on silver $50 coins struck at the Singapore Mint. Also featured on other coins are Mark Twain and the Pilgrims with the Mayflower.

OPERATION RESTORE HOPE

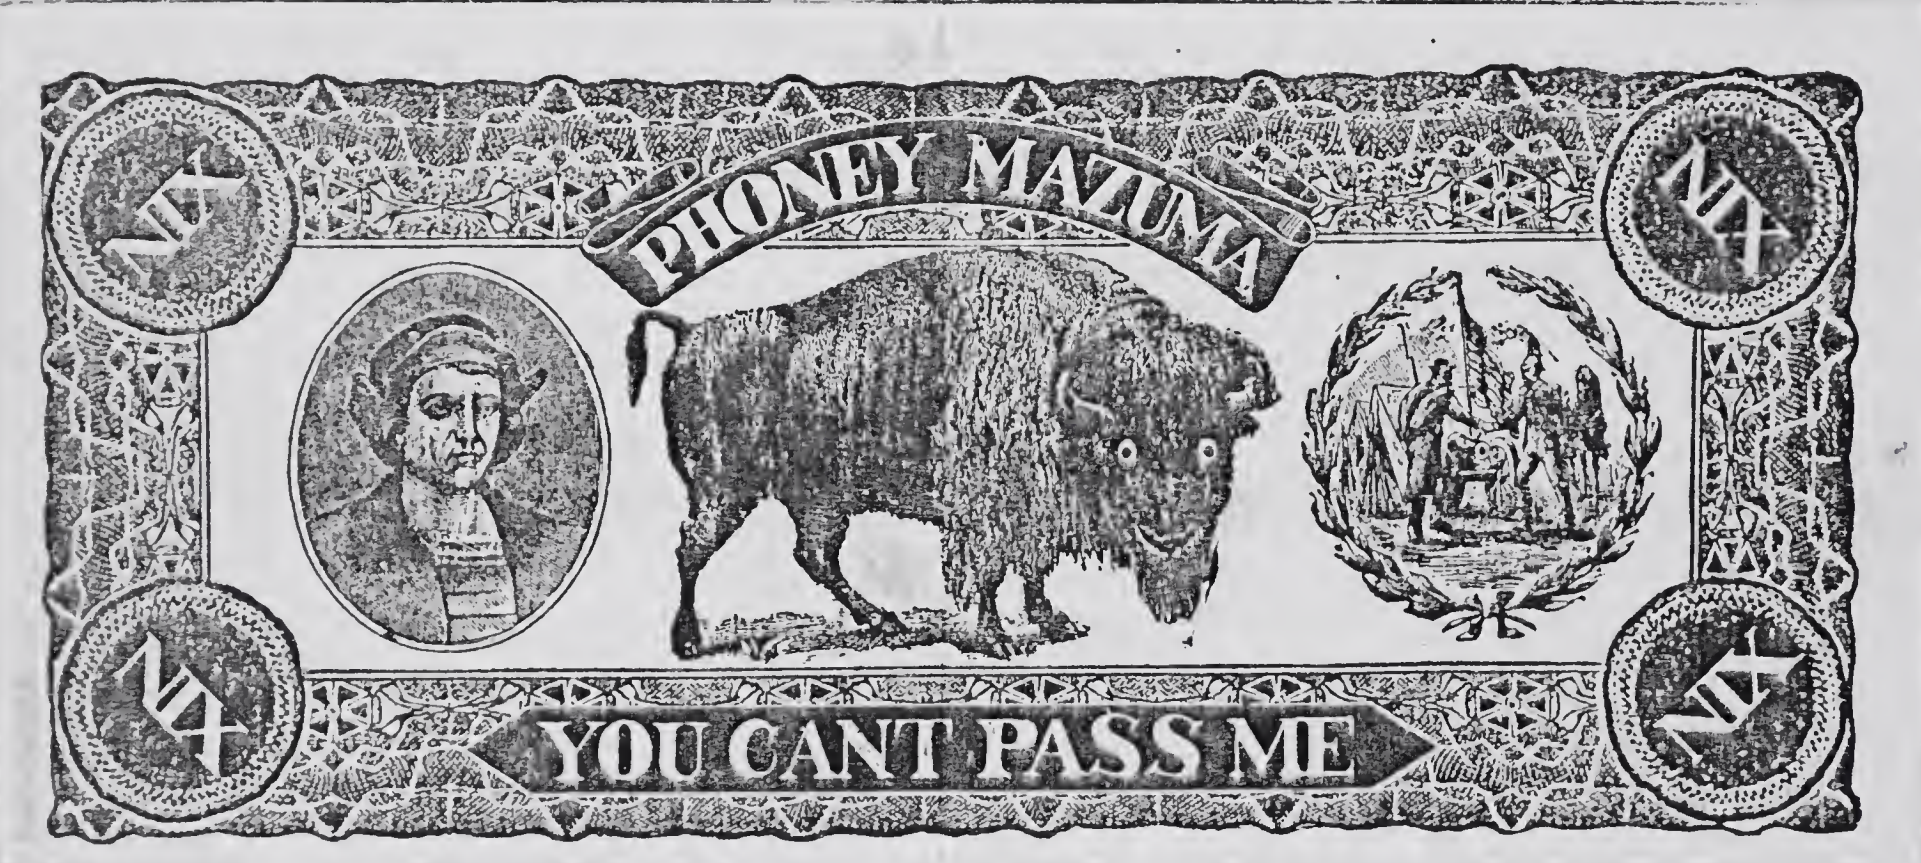

While not Alaskan, it is being manufactured to the order of an Alaskan firm.

North Pole, Alaska has Fort Wainwright to the west, and Eielson A.F.B. to the east. Larry White of Atta Boy Awards in North Pole wanted to do something for the military and their families to honor their participation in Operation Restore Hope (Somalia food relief).

The medal is very nicely designed, with the upper hand letting grain flow to the lower hand. Stuck in antiqued bronze, the 34mm medal is suspended from a heavy gold colored chain. The medal is uniface, with a series letter and serial number on the back. An appropriate memento, especially nice since we can support an Alaskan business!

Available for $12.95 plus $2 postage and handling from Atta Boy Awards, 543 St. Nicholas Drive, North Pole, Alaska 99705.

JUNEAU: Juneau Elks, B.P.O.E. 420, Days of '98, June 30, 1920 carnival money. The front is orange on white with a black overprint. The back is green on white. Size is 190mm by 85mm. Found in a photo album!

These short spaces are always the toughest to fill. Since I used the Editorial space for a real editorial this time, I'll just fill this up as I usually do the Editorial.

As you have noticed the copy quality has improved on the last three issues. Those were commercially printed. Our old copier gave up the ghost. This issue is being printed on our new Konica copier. Hopefully, we will get 5+ years of service from it. We are very pleased with the quality this copier is delivering!

Summer has arrived, predicted temperatures in the 70's this weekend.

FOR THE RECORD

ALASKA: Alaska Miners Association, 50 years, 1939-1989. One ounce .999 Fine Silver. Obverse shows a gold panner, reverse has a worker driving a steam point in front of a gold dredge. Made by Sunshine.

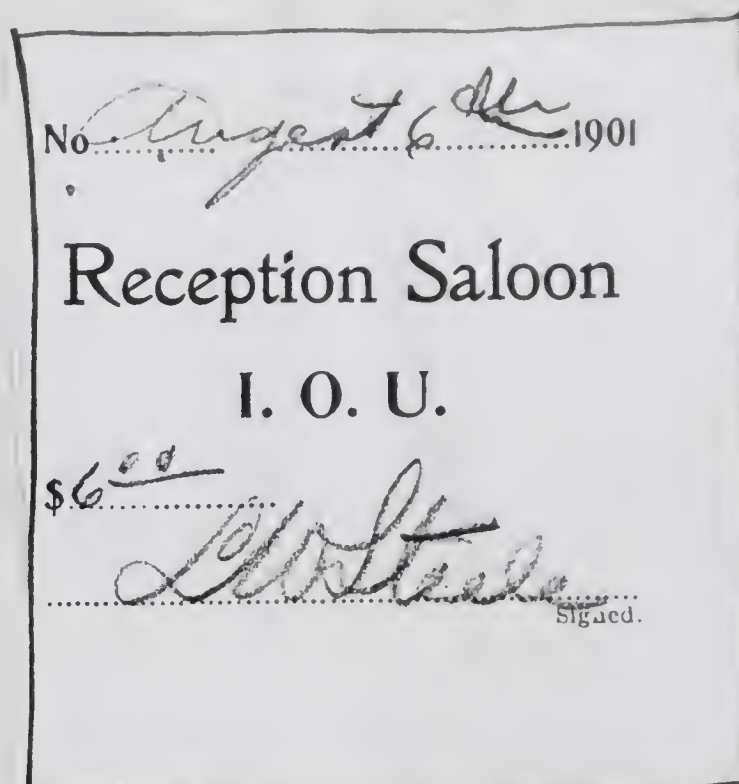

ALASKA: Alaskan Independence Party, Joseph E. Vogler. Silver medal, weight and fineness not stated. Joe Vogler, the founder of the A.I.P., celebrated his 80th birthday this year. Hopefully we will have a better illustration and more information in the next issue.

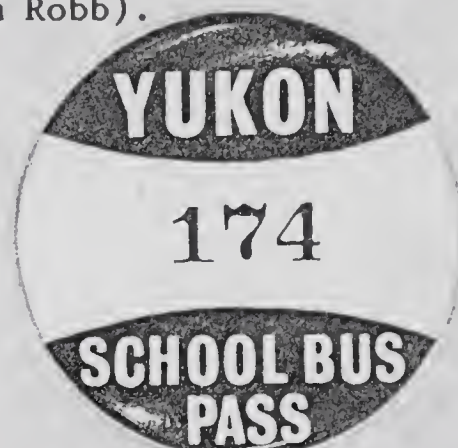

FAIRBANKS: Duffy's Sports Tavern, wooden nickel. Duffy's side is red, buffalo side is black.

MAVERICK: John Bianchi's Saloon, 5 cents in trade. Brass, 21mm. This was with a lot of modern Alaskan medals. Any ideas??

(DAWSON, YT): Reception Saloon, 1901, I.O.U., various values, signed by L. W. Steele. The Reception Saloon was at 269 Front Street, a high class saloon (submitted by Jim Robb).

YUKON: School Bus Pass. Black and white with red serial number (submitted by Brian Denman - say Brian, could this be Yukon, Oklahoma? We once saw a fire or police badge from, Yukon Department that was from Oklahoma. And how about a rubbing of that new token!).

DEW LINE: Sterling silver pin for 25 years. Actual size and enlarged above.

ARCTIC BROTHERHOOD PIN: Sterling silver, gold pan shaped, AB in gold, with three gold nuggets at the bottom of the pan (submitted by Brian Denman).

FAIRBANKS: Westmark Hotel, Five Safety Bucks. Just found the photocopy of this in our files. Sorry, but do not remember the color, probably green on white. Series 1990, so it has been here a while!

(FAIRBANKS): Woolworth $2 Gift Certificate. Part of a promotion, for matching the last two numbers of the serial number on a $1 Federal Reserve Note. Black on blue, with $2, Gift Certificate and Woolworth in red, 163mm by 79mm.

Mount Vaughan Antarctic Expedition

Imagine going to the Antarctic. Then imagine that you are going to climb a mountain, but you must mush a team of dogs 1,200 miles to do it. Then, imagine you are 88 years old! We can imagine it, but Norman Vaughan, antarctic veteran and Iditarod musher is going to do just that.

The Mount Vaughan Antarctic Expedition is scheduled to leave Little America on November 10 for the Queen Maud Mountains, start the climb of Mt. Vaughan on December 13, and be at the top on December 19th, Vaughan's birthday, weather permitting, of course!

Vaughan first went to the Antarctic with the Byrd Antarctic Expedition as a dog driver in 1928-1930. He acquired his experience as a dog driver with the Grenfell Mission in Labrador in 1925.

During World War II, he was in Search and Rescue at a base near Goose Bay Labrador when the call came in for an effort to rescue the crews of six P-38 fighter planes and two B-17 bombers that had safely executed an emergency landing on the Greenland ice cap. He coordinated the rescue of the fliers. It was discovered that one of the B-17 pilots had not destroyed the Norden bombsight. Fearing that this would fall into German hands, Vaughan mushed to the planes, recovered the sight, and mushed back to the coast.

He has spent the last decade trying to salvage the planes. It took five years to find them. Expecting that by now they would be under 10 or 20 feet of ice, the planes were actually 256 feet below the surface. A hole has been bored, and pieces are coming to the surface slowly. Vaughan's dream is to reassemble the planes, fill the fuel tanks and fly them home.

This issue should have a bit of something to interest everyone. We have it covered from pole to pole, western, eastern and Siberian Arctic, Antarctic, Russian American Company, humor and hookers!

Response to our special offering last month were so good, that we have sold out of the Gold Discovery medal in silver with gold, and the silver Mt. McKinley National Park.

Future issues will have an article on Joe Vogler, founder of the Alaskan Independence Party, who has been missing since May 30th. Also, an article on a case of counterfeiting in Fairbanks from 1958! Let us know if you have any information to share!

Jim Robb sent in this neat gold dust receipt from the Canadian Bank of Commerce. Dated May 28, 1906, the CBC received 57.81 ounces of gold dust for assay and purchase. If the $825 in the corner indicates the purchase price, then the miner was paid $14.27 per ounce! One has to wonder how much of the weight was dust and how much was nuggets!

VAUGHAN, cont.

Vaughan has entered the Iditarod 13 times, and finished it five times. His last finish was in 1990 at the age of 84. Clearly, this is a man that can climb a mountain on his 88th birthday.

Vaughan's wife, Carolyn Muegge-Vaughan, 50, world class mountaineer Vernon Tejas, 39, and expedition physician Dr. Peter Goth, 47, make up the remainder of the expedition team.

Via satellite communications, the expedition will be linked with millions of children in classrooms around the world. Real time communications will be possible between the classroom and the expedition.

To honor Vaughan and the expedition, a commemorative one ounce silver medal is available. Please see the order blank on the last page.

NAN-GRILL UPDATE

The Nan-Grill tokens were reported in the March issue. We received the following information from Ejvind Elsner owner of Nan-Grill.

"Nanortalik is the most southerly town in Greenland with a population of about 1400, with an additional 1200 people in the small villages in the area. Most people make their living from fishing and hunting.

"Nan-Grill opened for business as a bar-grill in 1986, employing 5 people. The tokens are used as "payment for playing machines." The mintage was 3000 pieces." The statement "payment for playing machines" is not clear. It is apparently some sort of reward for winning. What kind of machine is in use is not stated. It appears that these were meant to be redeemed, as well as replayed in the machine.

A photo of Nanortalik is shown at the bottom of the page, as well as a cut from the business envelope of Nan-Grill.

SAKHA / YAKUTIA

Russia is commemorating the 360th anniversary of the annexation of Yakutia in 1632. Yakutia is currently known as Sakha, what westerners would think of as western Siberia.

Gold coins will be struck in 50 and 100 Rouble denominations, containing 8.658 grams and 17.278 grams of .900 fine gold respectively. With the rouble currently (as we type this, and still dropping) at 1100 to the dollar, the face value of these coins is irrelevant - like the U.S. 1 oz. gold eagle at $50!

The 50 Rouble coin has a Chukotsk snow ram while the 100 Rouble has a prehistoric mammoth. Both animals are superimposed on a map of the region.

No ordering details have been released, but expect a hefty premium over gold value.

WHALES & DOLPHINS OF THE PACIFIC

The Republic of Marshall Islands, that fine country that brought us the massive sets of coins for space exploration and Desert Storm, is issuing a set of twelve $50 silver "coins" noting the whales and dolphins of the Pacific. Only three of the species are noted on the slick brochure, two known in Alaskan waters are above. The humpback is well done, while the beluga is shown swimming among small ice bergs!

And you can purchase these at face value! What a deal, right? Don't bet on it. The Republic of the Marshall Islands has recently made known the exchange requirements should you wish to cash these in. First, you must go to the Department of Finance, Majuro, Marshall Islands. An exchange fee of 10% or $5 per transaction is charged on each exchange. If the coins have a face value of over $10, only one per day can be exchanged. If the value is less than $10, a maximum of $10 will be exchanged each day.

So, if you like whales and medallic art, these are hard to beat. But remember, they only have 1 ounce of silver.

MEDAL HONORS BERING

The Royal Danish Mint has issued a medal honoring Vitus Bering, a Dane in the employ of Russia, for the 250 anniversary of the discovery of Alaska.

The medal was struck in 38mm and 55mm .999 silver and 38mm, .979 fine gold. The silver medals sell for $32 and $60 respectively, while the gold is $1050. Postage and insurance is $10 on orders under $800.

The medals can be ordered from Agau Metals APS, (Steen Hoy), Sandgildvej 9, DK 7470 Karup, Denmark.

(FAIRBANKS): Brina Kessel Award Medal. One ounce pure silver, to be used for presentation purposes only. Not available for public purchase.

NOT ALASKAN

The above token was reported to be Alaskan in the 1960 edition of "Alaska's Coinage Through the Years". The 1965 edition deleted it, and Ron Benice in "Alaska Tokens" makes a note that there is no evidence that they are Alaskan.

About a year ago, we received a letter from an Arizona collector advising that they were from Arizona. We were promised an article, but it was not received. We know how it is when you plan to do something, but just don't get to it.

Ron Benice wrote recently that he had met with Hall Birt of Tucson, cataloguer of Arizona tokens. He showed Ron a 1905 Arizona directory listing "A.E. Maupin, Indian Trader" in Keams Canyon, Arizona.

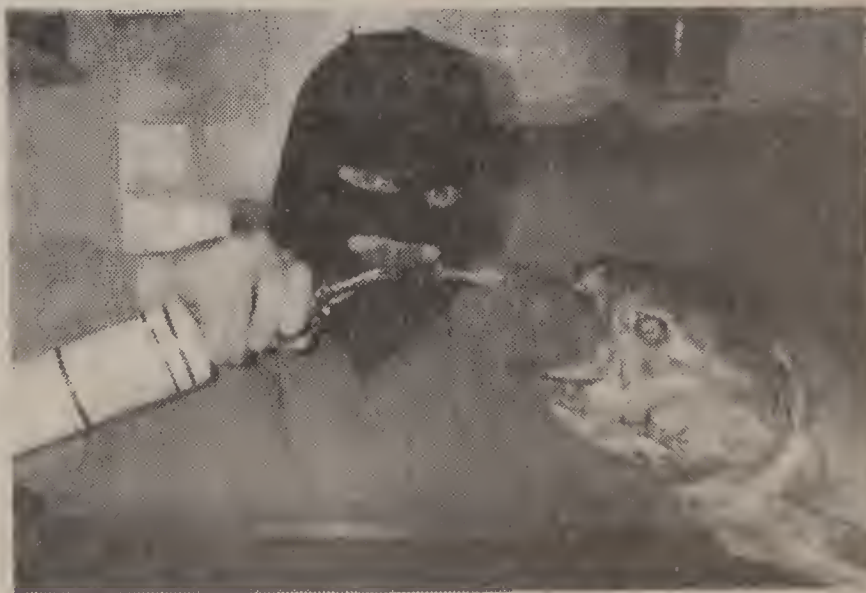

Our thanks to Ron and this anonymous collector for bringing it to our attention.

JOSEPH E. VOGLER ALASKAN PATRIOT

Joe Vogler, founder of the Alaskan Independence Party, has been missing since May 30. Rumors abound concerning who is responsible for his disappearance. The favorite culprit in these rumors is the Federal Government. Joe has been a thorn in their side since he founded the A.I.P. in XXXX.

Others feel that he just wandered off into the woods and ended it all. They point to the death last year of Doris, his wife of 28 years as being the cause of a depression. The facts just don't bear this out. His dogs were left in the house without food or water. As many friends have said, he loved those dogs more than he liked most people. And his trade mark fedora was still at the house.

Educated as a lawyer, Vogler was a formidable opponent for any "posy-sniffing" bureau-rat. Whether it was Carter's lock up of Alaskan lands, or defending the right to use historic trails, Joe was ready to take up the fight.

The most famous incident happened when he was driving a "cat" and other heavy equipment to his claim on Woodchopper Creek on an historic trail. The National Park Service advised him he needed a permit to do this, and that the permit would be valid only in the winter. Joe told them in no uncertain terms what they could do with their permit. As Joe was convoying his equipment to the claim, the National Park Service swooped in with two helicopters loaded with Park Rangers armed with automatic weapons.

Joe made three runs at the governorship of Alaska in 1974, 1982 and 1986. The main premise of the A.I.P. is that Alaska should be given a vote as to whether it should remain a state. Under the UN Charter (a legally binding treaty which the US signed) non-selfgoverning territories (which the US listed Alaska as with the UN at the time) must be given the choice of status quo, independence or to join with the colonizing country. "A colony is any people or territory separated from a ruling power, but subject to that power. The United

This summer has been the hottest your editor can remember. It hit 80 in early May cooled off for a week or two, and then stayed in the 70s and 80s for most of June and July. Even had a week in the 90s! Not complaining, but if I wanted hot weather, I would not live in Alaska!

The tourists are just dumb struck by our weather. They came here to cool of, and are quite surprised to find it in the 80s and 90s.

Noted author Frovin Sieg stopped in last week with his wife, daughter and nephew. Mr. Sieg is best known for his catalogues on Scandinavian coins, tokens and bank-notes.

And just this morning, Emil Zanarini, Felix Pedro's grand-nephew came in. Mr. Zanarini promised his mother he would visit Alaska, where his uncle had discovered gold. That was 73 years ago, and he finally made it!

We finally have the address of a pre-statehood counterfeiter. Hopefully, in the next issue, or the one after that, we should be able to bring you this interesting story.

GANDER TRADE DOLLAR

The famous World War II fighter aircraft, the Spitfire, is depicted on Gander's 1993 "Aviation Dollar" issued by the Gander and Area Chamber of Commerce, Gander, Newfoundland. This is Gander's twelfth annual municipal trade token in its series depicting aircraft of World War II that refueled at Gander's airport before flying overseas.

The obverse of the trade dollar shows the Spitfire. The reverse side features the logo of the Gander and Area Chamber of Commerce, showing a Canada goose in flight.

The Spitfire will probably go down in the record books as the best loved, and certainly the best known fighter aircraft ever built. Along with the Hawker Hurricane, it fought and won the "Battle of Britain, when the famous "few" were successful in turning back the mighty German Luftwaffe, as Adolph Hitler tried to bring the British people to their knees. Over 20,000 Spitfires were built, a few are still in flying condition.

The Sherritt Mint of Fort Saskatchewan, Alberta struck 12,000 specimens on 33mm nickel bonded steel blanks, and gold plated a small quantity. The NBS specimens are available postpaid for $1.50, while the gold plated NBS specimens in presentation case are $12.00. Order can be sent to Gander and Area Chamber of Commerce, 109 Trans-Canada Highway, Gander, Newfoundland, Canada A1V 1P6.

Back issues are available, postpaid as follows: 1984, 1985, 1988 ($4 each); 1989 ($3.50), 1990 ($3), 1991 ($2.50) and 1992 ($2). The 1982, 1983, 1986 and 1987 issues are sold out.

States has made a colony of Alaska," Vogler has said. In 1959, Alaska was given only the choice of statehood or to remain a territory.

Alaska's current governor and lieutenant governor ran on the Alaskan Independence Party ticket. We were hoping for an administration that would take a more active role in opposing the Federal Government's control and oppression of Alaska. Unfortunately, this has not happened.

Joe's latest tirade came this past winter at the "Wolf Summit". Even the Christian Science Monitor opened its article about the summit in the February 25, 1993 issue taking note of Joe Vogler. Always opposed to control from "the outside", Joe was once again on his soapbox assailing the "posy sniffers". The Monitor quoted Joe, "Unless you live in Alaska, you have absolutely no right to make any input into our fish and game rules."

Whatever the cause of Joe's disappearance, there are many that would like it solved. It really is too long to think that he will be found alive. But I have to think that maybe, if Joe had to pick a way to go out, he might just find this mysterious disappearance amusing.

A one ounce, 40.2mm silver medal (illustrated on the front page) has been issued honoring Joe Vogler. This medal was planned before his disappearance, for the occasion of his 80th birthday. These are being sold by the AIP Century Club, P.O. Box 72220, Fairbanks, AK 99707. Write first for current price.

CHENA, ALASKA

Chena once competed with Fairbanks to be the largest city in the interior. The beginning of the Tanana Valley Railroad was based here. Paolo Greer works with old maps and aerial/satellite photos, and he has plotted an old Sanborn Fire Insurance map of Chena onto a relatively current photo (see the next page). As you will note, most of old Chena is now in the Tanana River. Maybe this is why more Chena tokens don't turn up!

DAWSON, 1962

(From Jessen's Weekly, 6/27/62)

Big Gold Rush Festival At Dawson Underway Sunday

This coming Sunday will be a great day at Dawson and it is expected many Fairbanks-ans will be there when the first Dawson City Gold Rush Festival opens.

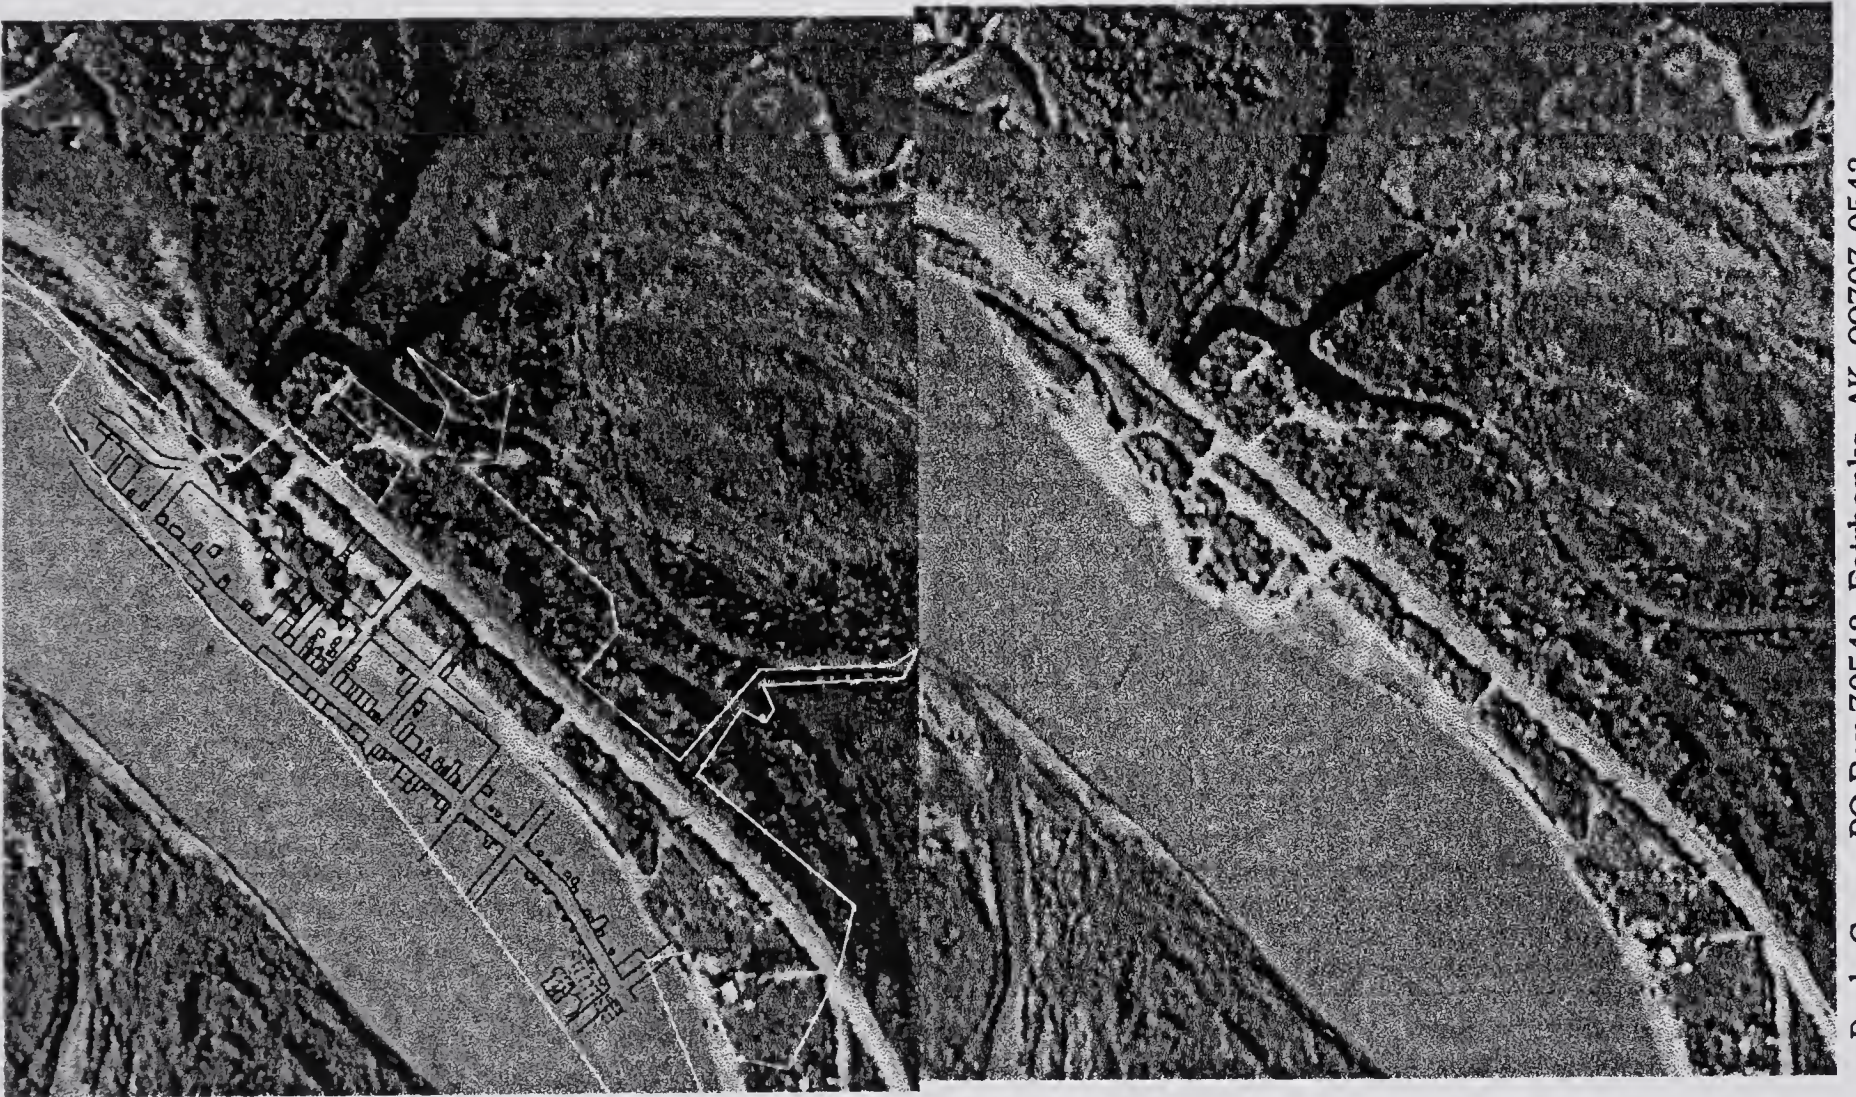

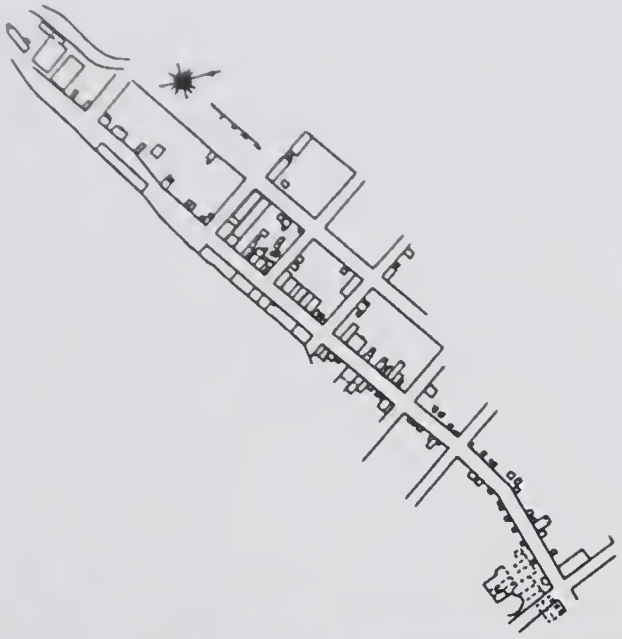

What will now be an annual affair marks the anniversary of the day in 1896 when the gold was discovered in nearby Bonanza Creek, which set off the gold stampede. The festival will continue all summer long, ending August 17.

The roaring hub of the Klondike Gold Rush was, of course, Dawson City, Yukon Territory, 338 miles north of Whitehorse. Since those early days the town has been more or less a relic with about 800 inhabitants - but it will be a real lively relic from here on out!

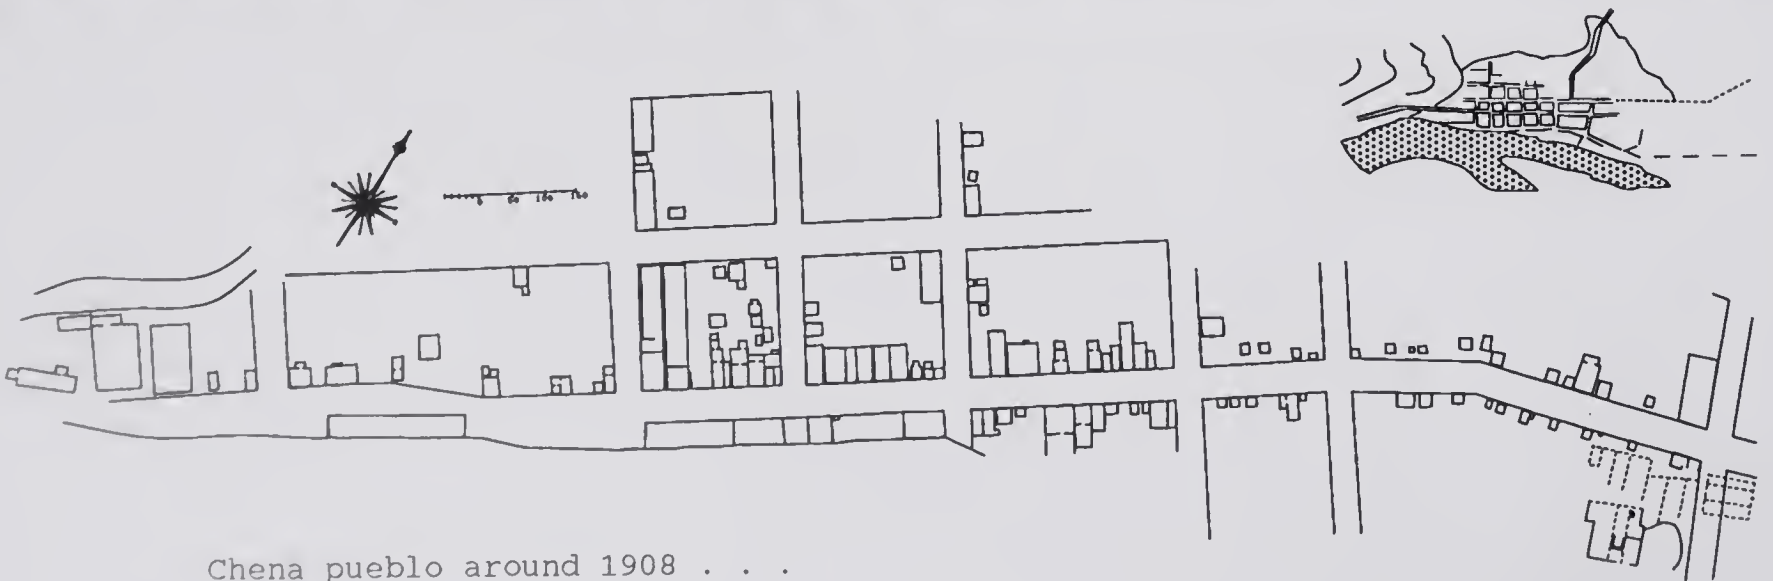

The residents, and many others, have worked hard for a solid year preparing for this first Dawson City Gold Rush Festival.

Restoration Work - Everything in the historically famous old gold camp has been repainted and restored to its former glory. Motels and a tent city have been built and tons of food supplies freighted in. There will be bear and buffalo steaks king salmon and Yukon blueberries.

Planned entertainment includes Arctic air tours, gold field tours, parades, dances, Yukon River canoe trips, and, listen to this, a pre-Broadway opening of a new show on the stage of the old Palace Grand Theater.

THE SILVER DOLLAR BANDIT!

Counterfeit silver dollars started appearing in Fairbanks on the afternoon of February 7, 1958. Apparently two types were out there. One was a dull lead in color, and about half again as thick as a silver dollar. When dropped, they made a dull thud. The others were shiny, but very light in weight. These made a hollow metal ring when dropped. They were dated either 1922 or 1923. The counterfeiter's "mistake" was that they were two headed.

In the winter of 1957 and 1958, John Covey was experimenting with casting materials and molds. Wanting to cast a chess set, he searched for something to copy to find the proper materials. What better than a silver dollar! And while he was at it, why not a "flipping coin", one with two heads. As it turns out, this was probably the worst item he could have chosen.

The project was all but forgotten when John received a phone call from a friend on another matter. "Say John, have you heard about the counterfeit, two headed dollars being passed?" After getting off the phone, John went to his dresser drawer and found that the coins he had cast the previous winter were missing.

John's family (his wife and three children) had taken in a 17 year old boy that winter. The teenager was having problems at home, and John had known the boy's father for years. When John found the coins missing, he knew exactly what had happened.

He hurried to his car, and drove downtown to find the lad. After a brief search of the places a 17 year old might be hanging out, John saw him walking down Second Ave. He went over to him and told him in no uncertain terms to get in the car. They drove to the a secluded part of the Chena River. The youth admitted to passing the coins, and produced the remaining ones. These were disposed of in the river. John told the boy to stay out of sight for a week, not wanting him to be recognized as the passer of the bogus coins.

The coins were passed at Ray's Super Market, Co-op Drug, the theater

EDITORIAL

How do you ask a friend if he had ever been arrested for counterfeiting? That is the dilemma I faced this summer when looking at old Fairbanks newspapers, I found the name of a man I know, being arrested for counterfeiting!

I have known John Covey for nearly 20 years. He left Alaska in 1978 and I had only seen him once since then.

A friend had John's address. He wrote to John to tell him he would be hearing from me. When he brought the address in, I was faced with the problem of how to ask John a question about his distant past. I couldn't just write a letter and say "Hey John, ever been busted for counterfeiting?". I procrastinated, then got a call from the friend that provided John's address telling me John was in town.

John came in that day, and we sat in the back room here at the store and talked for about two hours about his "heinous" crime. John came in to talk to me knowing that I wanted to do an article.

If John had asked, I would have changed his name, or even killed the article if it was going to make his life uncomfortable. Many of John's friends from the 50s and 60s know of this incident, and still refer to him as the Silver Dollar Bandit. Others, like myself, that made John's acquaintance at a later date will be surprised by the story, but realize that the biggest mistake was the item he decided to copy! John's attitude is a lot like my father's: If they (your friends and acquaintances) don't know better, the heck with them!

All John asked was that I not mention the names of others involved. The only other names mentioned were in the articles in the newspapers.

As I suspected from the news accounts, it was not a serious effort at counterfeiting. Today, the Treasury would confiscate the coins and molds, but it is doubtful any charges would be filed.

Our thanks to John for sharing this story with us. It makes an interesting footnote in Alaskan numismatics!

PROJECTS UP-DATE

The Stocks and Bonds book is still on hold until we get the photos. The negatives were given to a University student this past spring, and we still do not have the prints. As soon as we receive them, then we will start the layout. We have contacted several printers/publishers, and when we know the exact format and number of pages, we will put it out to bid.

"Readings in Alaskan Numismatics" will not progress until we get the S&B book done. Many of the articles as noted earlier are confirmed, and more have been confirmed since the last mention of this in the newsletter. There have been some disappointments in not hearing from some people, but that is to be expected. All well known authorities have indicated they will cooperate.

It is hoped that these two books will be of the same size format as Ron Benice's "Alaska Tokens". There is a second edition of Ron's book coming, and hopefully it will either be the same size as the first edition, or ours will be so slow as to be able to match up with the new edition.

To be honest, the summer season, with tourists, and the best summer weather in the 19 years I have been here have contributed to these projects not being of top priority.

and other businesses doing business at night. As word of the counterfeits spread, people were offering to purchase them for $1.50!

Months went by. John told a "friend" about the incident. From that point on it was only a matter of time. The "friend" induced the youth to relate the story to another friend. This "friend of a friend" turned out to be deputy marshal Warren Emmerton.

John was out of town on a fire fighting job for the Bureau of Land Management when his "friend" sent an emergency message to him to meet him at Globe Creek Bridge. By road, it was about 10 miles, but across country, it was much shorter so John cut across country. When he arrived, his "friend" said, "John, they're on to you. I've a plane waiting for you at Philips Field to take you to Canada." John said no thanks, and hiked back to his job fighting the forest fire. When that job ended, he went back into town. Nothing happened, and he was back out on another fire in a couple of days. When John flew back into town from the second fire, he was arrested at the airport. John said it looked like every law enforcement official in the territory was waiting for him to get off the plane.

The headlines read "Bogus Coin Suspect Arraigned" in the July 26, 1958 issue of the Fairbanks Daily News Miner. By this time, the news account states that "Over 20 of the crude bogus dollars were taken in by theaters and restaurants. The Marshal's office alleged that Covey cast more than 100 coins." John thinks the actual number of coins passed was seven. It was determined that the composition of the coins was a lead compound used by newspapers.

John was arraigned on two charges of counterfeiting U.S. coins and making a counterfeit mold. "Six other persons saw Covey make the coins or knew about the counterfeiting... One of them, a juvenile boy, was involved in passing the fake coins. No charges are contemplated against the six." (FDNM 7/28/58).

On October 8, the charges against John

Covey were dismissed on the grounds that the complaining witness, Deputy Marshal Warren Emmerton, was not present. He was transporting convicts to prisons in the States. At this time, the charges are reported as (1) counterfeiting 17 silver dollars and (2) making and possessing a mold for the coining of counterfeit coins. Later in the article it states that "Scores of bogus silver dollars, some of them with two heads or two tails began appearing in Fairbanks Feb. 7. Covey can still be indicted on the same charges when the grand jury meets next week" (FDNM 10/9/58).

Upon being released from his bail, John was advised by his attorney to leave the territory. John made plans with his family to visit friends and relatives in the lower 48. His "friend" would house sit for him.

On October 15, 1958, the grand jury met and issued a secret indictment on the charges John was previously charged with. Not much secret that this was for John Covey.

John's "friend" was in touch with John, and with the police. He kept the local law enforcement officials advised as to where John was, and John was arrested in New York City just after the new year, 1959. John says his "friend" even told the newspapers that he was trying to flee the country to Israel. We could not find this in our research.

The case dragged on, with motions to dismiss and continue. There was even a possible jurisdictional problem. Since Alaska had become a state, the judge was not sure that he had jurisdiction to try the case!

The local prosecuting attorney would not even consider a plea bargain. Finally, on the day of the trial, a deal was struck. Plead guilty to one count, the other two counts would be dropped. This was done, and a suspended sentence of 18 months was imposed.

To his friends that remember this episode in his life, he is still the Silver Dollar Bandit!

Customer Signature

WHITEHORSE: Tags Food & Gas. At the top is a "Buck" for non-gas products. It is black on orange, 126 by 65mm. It is printed on only one side. Below are both sides of the Alaskan Highway Husky Buck, stamped for Tags. These were used at Husky stations on the Alaska Highway. These are black and red on white, 151 by 69mm. The Tags stamp is blue.

FEEDBACK

We heard from five readers that Trona is in California. The tokens from this company appear to be very common.

Our thanks to Brian Denman, Alan Weinberg, Jerome Schaeper, Lew Egnew and last but not least, and definitely the most distant, Bob Lyall of England!

PRICES REALIZED

Only one sale price of any importance to report this month.

NW TAMS Auction:

Katalla, Smith & Duval B-4a 190.00

Neat token with the oil derrick. It appears that we were the underbidder on this one!

COIN SALE CONTINUES

(From the Fairbanks Daily News-Miner, Feb. 12, 1960).

"Sale of the Alaska statehood souvenir "gold" coins issued by the Fairbanks Chamber of Commerce, will continue. Profits will be used to put the finishing touches on the new chamber log cabin. A sod roof is to be put on, sidewalks laid, and landscaping remains to be done when weather permits. Fairbanks merchants may obtain a supply of the coins from the chamber office at a reduced rate. They retail for $1.

"The Fairbanks Chamber of Commerce has a supply of statehood medallions which were authorized by the legislature a year ago. These retail for $4 each. Chamber members may buy them at an attractive discount."

It is interesting what one finds when doing research on other subjects. The first item mentioned above is, of course, the trade dollar issued in 1959. These were sold by the Chamber up until the late 70s. These are offered in the next column.

We assume that the medallions are the large bronze statehood medals, also struck in silver and gold.

NEW THIS MONTH

We have finally received the fractional silver medals of this years official state medal series. The 1/10 and 1/4 ounce medals are available for $4.50 and 7.50 respectively.

A friend recently drove the Dempster Highway as far as Fort McPherson. He stopped off at Dawson and picked up ten of the new $2.50 multi-colored chips. These are really nice, with red, yellow, green, pink, white, black and flesh colors used. Since we only have a limited number, please limit your orders to one piece.

We made an interesting buy of the 1959 Fairbanks Trade Dollars. Generally these trickle in, but we purchased about 100. We have seen other dealers selling these for as much as $12. Only $1.50 each.

We have purchased a reprint of Schwatka's "A Summer in Alaska". It is from the same publisher as "Tales of Alaska and the Yukon" that we offered this past summer. It has all the original illustrations and maps. Very inexpensive, a good value.

Please use the order blank on the last page.

FOR THE RECORD

ANCHORAGE: O'Neill's Gaslight, Good for one on the house. Green on wood. We had not noticed this before, but there are initials on the front, and these are different. One is TG and the other is OO. Is this a security measure, with the bartender's initials? Any others out there with different initials?

(ANCHORAGE): Christmas, 1992, one ounce silver bar by Michael's Jewelers (submitted by Kurtis Hawk).

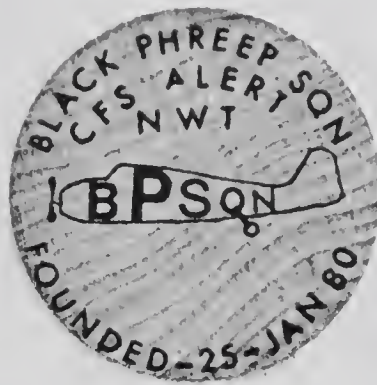

MATANUSKA VALLEY: Heartland of Alaska (barn, field, road, mountains). Alaska, the Last Frontier. One ounce pure silver (submitted by Kurtis Hawk).

(VALDEZ): Exxon Valdez, the Ship from Hell March 24, 1989. 1 oz. pure silver, limited to 1,000 (submitted by Kurtis Hawk).

YELLOWKNIFE, NWT: (in the next column) Large bronze, uniface plaque by Pressed Metal Products, Vancouver (submitted by Brian Denman).

ALERT, NWT: Black Phreep Squadron, Alwus Drunkus. Black on wood. Alert is at 82°31', and thus has the furthest north post office in the world. This then gains the recognition of the furthest north token! Another variety with gold printing is known (submitted by Brian Denman).

WHITEHORSE, YT: Gold Rush Inn medal. Minted by Alaska Mint in brass and 1 oz. pure silver. The silver comes with and without a nugget in the pan (submitted by Jim Robb).

AUCTION: TO BE HELD AT 7:00, OCTOBER 16th IN FAIRBANKS. These are just the Alaskan items. If you want a complete listing, please call or write. Send bids to the address above. Phone bids may be called in between 10AM and 5PM Alaska time, Monday through Saturday.

- 222 Alaskan tokens: Alakanuk, Alstrom Trading Co. short set of five tokens; 25 cents, $1, $5, $10 and $20, missing the 50 cents token. All AU/BU as usually found. Alstrom had another store at Kwiguk, and these tokens are usually found in very well worn and damaged condition! Set of 5 tokens. 100.00
- 223 Alaskan Tokens: Alaska Rural Rehabilitation Corporation (A.R.R.C.), short set of seven tokens; 1, 5, 10, 50 cents, $1, $5 and $10. Missing only the 25 cents tokens. All EF-AU. An attractive set. 300.00+
- 224 Alaskan tokens: Barrow, Tony's Recreation set of 4; 5, 10, 25 and 50 cents. One of the more recent sets in "Alaska Tokens", however, fairly scarce. Tony's apparently went out with one of the storms, and most of the tokens went with it. 80.00
- 225 Alaskan tokens: McCarthy, Golden Hotel, 12 1/2 cents in trade, oval brass. This used to be a very rare token. However, a hoard appeared about 10 years ago. Even after the hoard was discovered, these were still selling for $200. A more realistic price is 100.00
- 226 Alaskan Medal: Alaska Yukon Pacific Exposition, 1909. Large, 75mm, gold plated bronze, "gold award" medal. Obverse shows the seal of the expo., while the reverse has a wreath and a plaque labeled "gold medal" with room for additional inscription. Very popular. 100.00+
- 227 Alaskan Medals: Alaska Purchase Centennial, 1967. Very large silver and bronze set with Seward on the obverse and the Purchase Centennial Totem on the reverse. These used to sell for $200+, but with more coming on the market now, a more reasonable price is 125.00
- 228 Alaskan Medal: Kodiak, Good for one drink at The Beachcombers, 1967. This is the silver version of the brass drink token. The brass is very common, but the silver is quite hard to come by. Serial number is 65, and our foggy memory tells us only 100 were struck. 75.00
- 229 Alaskan Medals: A-67, Pioneer Memorial Park (now Alaskaland). Two sets of numbered silver and bronze medals and three unnumbered bronze medals. Very attractive medals showing locomotive, riverboat, mine entrance, moose and caribou. A total of 7 medals. 50.00
- 230 Alaskan Medals: Fairbanks Coin Club medals honoring James Wickersham, 1980. Set of silver and bronze, with a very low serial number - #3. Wickersham was one of the major figures in territorial Alaska. 30.00+
- 231 Alaskan Medals: Fairbanks Coin Club medals honoring Jeff Studdert, 1981. Set of silver and bronze, again with a very low serial number - #2. Studdert was a famous sled dog racer. The racing grounds in Fairbanks are named for him.
- 232 Trans-Alaskan Pipeline Medals: All 1 oz. silver. #1-1974; #3-1975J; #5-1975D; #8-1976S. #1 is EF, the others uncirculated, some toning present. #8 is the popular Welding scene. A total of 4 pieces. 70.00+
- 233 Alaska Rural Rehabilitation Corporation, Commemorative set of bingle reproductions. The obverse looks like the original token, the reverse states Matanuska Valley-Alaska, Colony Project 50th Anniversary, 1935 - 1985. These were sold by some as being from the original dies. This is not correct. In original case, set number 339. 25.00
- 234 Alaskan Medal: Bradley Lake Hydroelectric Project, 1991. One ounce silver medal struck by the Anchorage Mint. Only 500 struck. This was a presentation piece for dignitaries at the dedication ceremonies. 75.00

Travel Brochures: Canadian Pacific B.C. Coast Steamship Service, "Alaska Daily Bulletin". Multi-colored, folds out to nice map of the coast from Washington to Skagway. Daily itinerary given. Southeastern Alaska/British Columbian Indian sea-going canoe on front. Very attractive. Also, two publications about Ben-My-Chree on West Taku Arm in northern British Columbia. The first is titled "The Story of Ben-My-Chree" and was distributed by the White Pass & Yukon Route. The center fold is all photos, and someone has saved a souvenir, with a sprig of leaves taped into the booklet. The second is "A Lady in the Wilderness" by Frederick Niven, and it was reprinted from the Canadian Home Journal. Very nice lot of 3 items.

JASON ISLANDS NOTES

Part of the Falklands, these were issued to raise funds for a wildlife sanctuary. The denominations are 50 Pence, 1,5,10 and 20 Pounds; green, purple, red, blue and brown, respectively. In the June, 1993 issue of Coin News (UK), these were offered by a dealer for 9.50 Pounds. Help us clean house, and take these off our hands at only $3 per set.

ALASKA TRADE TOKENS

by
Kaye Dethridge
Presented at the meeting of the Alaska Historical Society held in Fairbanks
October 9, 1993.

What is a token? Webster defines a token as a piece of metal, issued as money, with a face value greater than the intrinsic value. To this definition, I would like to add paper, cardboard and leather.

Tokens have been around as long as coins. It seems that during depressions or wars, gold and silver coins disappear, often into socks, mattresses, or fruit jars buried in the back yard. Some kind of replacement is needed to conduct business, hence the trade token. When our country was being founded, and before domestic coins were struck, foreign money circulated freely. One of the most popular was the Spanish piece of eight. This coin was more or less dollar size. To help solve the small change problem, this dollar size piece of eight was cut into bits. If you have ever wondered where the term two bits and four bits originated, this is it. Many tokens appear with 12 1/2 cents on them. This equals 1 bit. A 6 1/4 cents token equals a half bit.

The worthless "junk" token, with little history behind it, can be elevated to a spot of great importance. In many instances it may be the only item left from a long forgotten person or business.

If you have heard the term "Bingle", this is another name for Alaskan trade tokens. The term "Bingle", as far as I can learn is unique to Alaska. The dictionary says a bingle is a bob or a term used in baseball. The answer to the bingle may lie in the first definition, as a bob is a British word for shilling.

The "Bingle" is a term used among coin collectors for the Alaska Rural Rehabilitation Corporation set of tokens. These tokens were issued to the farmers who were brought to the Palmer region in the mid 1930s. This particular eight piece set of tokens gained fame because of its inclusion in a coin book name "A Guide Book of United States Coins," published yearly by Whitman Publishing Co.

For a period of time, the word Bingle was thought to be connected with the Rev. Bert Bingle who worked in the Chitina area, with children, in the 1930s. However, I believe this to be wrong, as the term is much older than the 1930s.

EDITORIAL

This month, we are please to present the text of Kaye Dethridge's presentation to the Alaska Historical Society annual meeting, held recently in Fairbanks. It was good to see Kaye again. Needless to say he brought a few pieces for "show and tell" that made my mouth water. Of course they were not for sale. Such is life.

Your editor has become very weary of trying to find items that have appeared in past issues. Sure, I have the 10 year index, and then the yearly indexes, but that is not good enough. Therefore, the 15 year index will be available for mailing with the December issue of this newsletter. It will be between 20 and 25 pages (maybe more), and I must say that I am impressed. Sorry folks, it won't be free, but if you have a need to use these newsletters beyond the cursory first glance upon receiving it, this is a tool you will want. You can use the order blank with the Christmas Shopper enclosed with this issue.

I was planning to raise the subscription rate to $12 next year, but an increase in advertising revenue has allowed my to postpone this increase. I hope that you have let Mrs. Waugaman know that you appreciate her ads by buying something. Candy has an office upstairs from us, and comes into the shop at least three times a day. My day is not complete without harassing her several times. But let's have some fun. Send her a Christmas card at Chena Ventures thanking her for keeping your subscription rates low. If she gets cards from a couple dozen subscribers, it will floor her. Don't tell her you got this idea from me. This will come as a total shock to her. She does not, as a rule, see each issue of the newsletter unless she has an ad in it.

Now remember folks, leave the Christmas Shopper on the kitchen table with the appropriate items marked. Make it easy for your significant other or kids this Christmas!

We always need space fillers and articles. If you come across anything of interest, please let us hear from you. Anything related to Alaska might be useful.

PRICES REALIZED

The following are the prices realized for the Alaskan section of our auction of October 16, 1993.

Lot 222	Alakanuk tokens	65.00
223	ARRC tokens	250.00
224	Tony's, Barrow tokens	40.00

Perhaps the first type of Alaskan token was the leather money issued by the Russian American Company. Articles by Anders Berglund, Tuukka Talvio and Randolph Zander appearing in the "Journal of the Russian Numismatic Society" Number 28 Autumn 1987, and Dr. Pierce's article appearing in the same publication, Number 37 Winter 1990, add much needed knowledge to this interesting bit of Alaska history.

Dr. Pierce's article states these were first printed in 1816 with the last being ordered in 1852 and shipped in February of 1853. During the span of these notes they have been printed in 10, 25 and 50 Kopek, 1, 5, 10 and 25 Ruble denominations. They were printed on both cardboard and animal skin. For years the parchment was thought to be of seal skin but recent research has indicated that walrus skin may have been the material used.

Ivan Petroff in "Alaska: its Population, Industries and Resources" published in 1882 mentions in a footnote on page 96 that the walrus skin was used to wrap packages of fur sent from Sitka to Kiachta, China; there the skins were stripped and sewn anew over chests of tea received in exchange for the furs. These in turn were shipped to Moscow. Here the soundest portions were cut up and stamped into Kopeks, in time to revisit their native seas.

Petroff goes on to say that the walrus parchment Rubles were sometimes worth only one third the face value. On page 50 of the same book Petroff states that the price paid to Aleut hunters was only 10 Rubles of script for a top hide, while the price being paid on the markets of Asia and Europe was 50 to 100 Dollars for the same hide.

The successor to the Russian American Co., Alaska Commercial Co., at least in one case continued the use of leather money. The trading Company at Nuchuk issued a dated and signed 50 Cent piece.

The main competition to the Alaska Commercial Co. was the North American Transportation and Trading Co. established in 1892. To date, 25 and 50 Cents, $1 and the unusual $1.10 denomination are known. The $1.10 denomination is a mystery, possibly a fare or a favor?

By the early 1900's the Northern Commercial Co. had succeeded the Alaska Commercial Co. Two tokens with the NC flag on one side and the diamond shape with T and MC enclosed were issued in packets for the tourists on board the stern wheelers for meal checks. The T stands for Tanana while the MC stands for the stern wheeler "Marie Clough". Also known is a token from the stern wheeler "Susie".

National bank notes came into being on February 25, 1863 with the passage of the National Banking Act. The national banks were chartered for twenty years after which time the charters could be renewed. Four Alaska national banks received charters with the First National Bank of Fairbanks receiving the number 7718 in 1905. These notes were printed in five, ten and twenty dollar denominations in the old "Horse blanket" size and from 1929 to 1935 in the size that we are familiar with today.

The Yukon and Alaska gold rushes had brought the country out of a depression. This prosperity was to last for a number of years but in 1907 rumor had it that several security dealers and banks in New York had overextended and would not be able to obtain credit. As a result, depositors made a run on the banks. This consequence was felt in Alaska by the disappearance of currency. Nome and Fairbanks are the only two Alaskan towns that issued their own paper money. Nome's three banks formed a clearing house. One article read, said of the three banks in Fairbanks, two went together to issue script and the other bank issued on its own. The same article says that the possessor of this scrip had to spend it fast because if placed on a wet bar it would melt quickly as it was printed on very thin paper. These two pieces are from Judge Wickersham's collection.

Another rare Fairbanks item from the Wickersham collection is this set of Floradora cardboard tokens. As shown, this set consists of 25c, 50c, $1, $2.50 and the $5.00. This, so far, is the only known remaining example of these tokens. Cardboard bingles were perhaps more widely used, but few have survived the ravages of time. The cardboard tokens were often signed or initialed on the back. This was probably a method of validation to assure it was the real thing. These could have been printed at the local printer, if one was available, and be in use in a few days as compared to the metal tokens which had to be ordered from a stamp and die company "outside" Alaska and may have taken several months to receive.

The photo page on this set says operation from 1904-1910, however an ad in the Fairbanks Daily Times for December 14, 1907 says under new management and says McNamee & Co. proprietors. Mr. McNamee must have acquired the Floradora at this time.

During the quest for these bits of history many contacts are made and among the most notable is the one I made with a Mr. McDonald who as a small boy lived in Iditarod where his mother ran a hotel. Mr. McDonald sent me the photo of the Imperial Cigar Store. As he says on the back of this photo, you can see the Imperial between the furniture store and the Model bakery. This token is initialed on the back A-H for the owners, Allison and Hurley.

(Ed. Note: Many of the items mentioned in the text of the presentation were accompanied by a slide. Following the above presentation, Mr. Dethridge went on to show slides of tokens from the interior region of Alaska.)

FRENCH SOUTHERN & ANTARCTIC TERRITORIES

The French Mint has struck coins to commemorate the 150 anniversary of the death of Admiral Dumont d'Urville, noted polar explorer. D'Urville's portrait is on the obverse of the coins. The reverse designs feature an albatross in flight (5 Franc, 28 mm); penguins in an antarctic blizzard and seals (two 10 Franc coins, about 40mm). All are struck in silver, and the issue is limited to 15,000.

What is interesting about the coins is that they bear the reverse legend Terre Australes et Antarctiques Francaises (Fr. Southern and Antarctic Territories) 1992.

While carrying a date of 1992, we have not seen these in the North American numismatic market as yet. These were reported in Coin News, a publication from the U.K.

One of the neatest raffle tickets we have ever seen comes from Delta Jct. The ticket, valued at $5, is a chance on a buffalo. You may either hunt and shoot, or receive it already cut and wrapped, or $2,000. Any taxidermy expenses are extra! The buffalo will come from one of the two local farms, not from the Delta buffalo herd. The ticket is green on white with black serial numbers, 165 by 69mm. The raffle is sponsored by the Delta Chamber of Commerce.

ANCHORAGE: Two street vendors in Anchorage have issued punch cards for hot dogs. The one on the right, unidentified, is red on cream colored cardboard, 89 by 56mm. Linda's Hot Dog Stand had two cards of the same design on different colored card stock - pink and blue. Both are printed in black ink, 89 by 50mm. (submitted by Kurtis Hawk).

ALASKA TRANSPORTATION MEDAL: ANOTHER ONE OUNCE SILVER MEDAL THAT WE RECENTLY COMMISSIONED, THIS DEPICTS VARIOUS MODES OF TRANSPORTATION IN ALASKA. THE RIVERBOAT NENANA, A DIESEL LOCOMOTIVE OF THE ALASKA RAILROAD, A BUSH PLANE ON FLOATS AND A DOG TEAM ENCIRCLE A MAP OF ALASKA. THIS MEDAL HONORS THE TRANSPORTATION INDUSTRY AS THE KEY TO THE DEVELOPMENT OF ALASKA, SOMETHING SADLY LACKING SINCE THE D-2 LAND SELECTIONS MADE ALASKA ONE BIG NATIONAL PARK. YOU CAN'T EVEN FLY A PLANE OVER SOME AREAS BECAUSE IT WOULD DISTURB THOSE FEW HIKERS WEALTHY ENOUGH TO BE ABLE TO AFFORD A MONTH'S VACATION IN "PRISTINE" WILDERNESS. THE OBERSE IS FROSTED WITH PROOF LIKE SURFACES. THE REVERSE BEARS OUR FAMILIAR "DENALI" REVERSE. THESE MEDALS ARE PRICED AT $14.00.

UNIVERSITY OF ALASKA MEDALS: THE UNIVERSITY OF ALASKA MUSEUM HAS COMMISSIONED TWO MEDALS. ONE DEPICTS THE STATE "FOSSIL", THE WOOLY MAMMOTH. THE OTHER FEATURES THE RIVERBOAT NENANA, AN HISTORIC LANDMARK. THESE ARE STRUCK IN ONE OUNCE SILVER, AND LIMITED TO 4000 AND 2500, RESPECTIVELY. THE REVERSE BEARS THE SEAL OF THE UNIVERSITY. PROCEEDS FROM THE SALE OF THESE MEDALS BENEFIT THE MUSEUM'S ENDOWMENT FUND. THE WOOLY MAMMOTH IS $28.00, WHILE THE RIVERBOAT NENANA IS $29.75.

"UNKNOWN FIRST FAMILY" MEDAL: THIS MEDAL WAS DESIGNED BY ELLEN SHIELDS, AND FEATURES THE STATUE, "UNKNOWN FIRST FAMILY" BY INTERNATIONALLY KNOWN SCULPTOR MALCOLM ALEXANDER TO COMMEMORATE ALASKA'S SILVER ANNIVERSARY OF STATEHOOD, AND WAS DEDICATED IN 1984. IT RESIDES IN THE GOLDEN HEART PLAZA BY THE CHENA RIVER ON FIRST AVENUE. THE IMMACULATE CONCEPTION CHURCH, AN HISTORIC LANDMARK, CAN BE SEEN IN THE BACKGROUND. ONLY 2000 NUMBERED MEDALS ARE AUTHORIZED, AND THESE ARE PRICED AT $28.00

HOPE, ALASKA

The Hope and Sunrise Historical Society of Hope, Alaska is striking a medal to commemorate 100 years of mining in their area.

Gold had been found on the Kenai Peninsula during Russian times. In 1850/51, Peter Doroshin, a mining engineer from St. Petersburg, organized gold explorations on the Kenai and Russian Rivers. Others prospected near Resurrection and Bear Creeks. By 1894, claims were being worked on all creeks in the Resurrection and Sixmile drainages. News of gold brought a small gold rush in 1896/97.

The Society has ordered 2,000 - 40mm copper nickel alloy medals. One hundred, two medal sets will be assembled. One medal with a nugget and another medal with serial number and an antique finish will make up the set. Pre-issue price is $50. Any remaining sets will sell for $100.

The obverse of the medal depicts Hope, Aaa as a tent city with the present main street in the old townsite. Aaa is the old postal abbreviation for Alaska.

Magdalene Uzzell of the Society worked with Greg Solomon (the artist) and Jim Neumann of Newton Alaska Manufacturing to produce a unique and beautiful commemorative for numismatists and souvenir collectors. To assure that the medal will never be duplicated, the Society will have the original dies and art work on display in a museum, now under construction in Hope.

Those wishing to obtain sets and singles should contact the Hope and Sunrise Historical Society, C/O Ann Miller, Sec., Hope, AK 99605 or call 907-782-3471.

Previous issues from Hope, Alaska.

EDITORIAL

Another year out of the way! Wow, time flies when you're having fun. Should anyone doubt that this is fun, just come in and see how much (make that how little) money we make on this publication. When it stops being fun, then that will be the end of it.

Without people supporting us with information, this publication would have gone to the great roll of microfilm in the sky years ago. It is only fitting that we mention those that have contributed information this year, in the order in which their names appeared:

Jim Robb	Ron Benice
Alan Weinberg	Hal Birt
Kaye Dethridge	Jerry Remick
Edward Tatarka	Paolo Greer
Brian Denman	Provin Sieg
Les Hill	Karl Ward
Bob Majni	John Covey
Candy Waugaman	Jerome Schaeper
Kurtis Hawk	Lew Egnew
Jørgen Sømmod	Bob Lyall
Larry White	John Cheramy
Jerry Schimmel	Ron Greene

I apologize if I missed anyone.

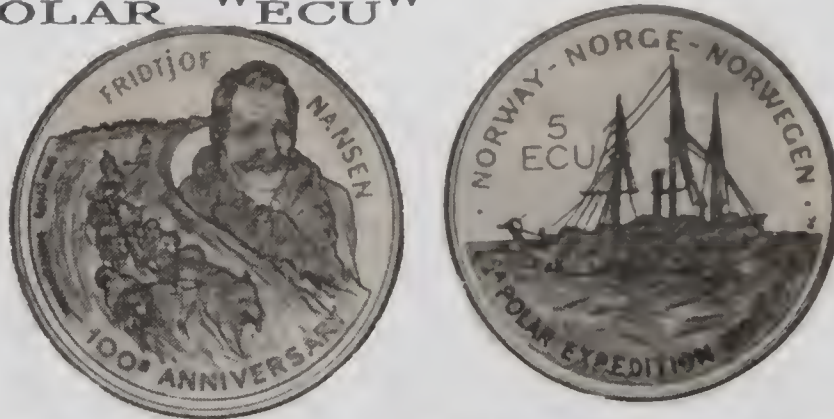

Next month, we will have a special issue. Much of it will be about the Shetland Islands. Sitting astride the 60th parallel the Shetlands are further north than much of the Kenai Peninsula and the southern tip of Greenland, yet they are not really considered polar.

Les Burzinski has submitted an article on communion tokens from the Shetlands. The number and variety are amazing. We also have a short item on a ship wreck, and coins from that wreck.

We used this month to clean out the files. While there are still a few things left, we are in need of articles and spacefillers. How about sharing your information with other readers. Appropriate credit on subscriptions will be given.

As we enter our 16th year, we would like to thank all of those who have supported us in the past years and hope that you will continue with us in years to come.

POLAR "ECU"

Norway has issued a medallion 5 Ecu piece in copper-nickel dated 1993. The Ecu is "European Currency Unit". It is a bookkeeping unit for international trade and has no legal tender status. Many European countries have issued "coins" denominated in Ecu.

What makes this of interest to us is that it notes the 100 anniversary of Fridtjof Nansen's polar expedition on the Fram. The obverse features the Fram frozen into the polar sea ice. The reverse has a portrait of Nansen and a dog team.

In 1893, Nansen purposefully froze the Fram into the polar ice in an attempt to drift to the north pole. When it was apparent this was going to work, he tried to reach the pole by dog sled. He failed, eventually reaching Franz Josef Land. The Fram finally broke free of the ice near Spitzbergen

YUKON PIONEERS DEAD

(From the Colonist, June 22, 1907.
Submitted by Ron Greene, Victoria, B.C.)

Dawson, June 4: Joseph M. Hutton, a well known pioneer of Skagway and Dawson died Tuesday of acute gastritis. He will be buried tomorrow under the auspices of the Dawson Aerie of Eagles.

Hutton was one of the pioneers of the North. For years he was proprietor of the celebrated Mug restaurant in Skagway during the great gold rush, and later was proprietor of the Mondamin hotel in the same town. He came to Dawson in 1901, and had been in business here ever since.

South America. He was breaking a revolver when the cartridge "stuck" and exploded. The ball penetrated his cheek and the brain and Burke died immediately.

Three years ago Mr. and Mrs. Burke made a tour of the world, and returned to Dawson and spent the following summer. Mr. Burke organized property here for sale, and afterward went to London. Then he went to South America, near the Straits of Magellan, and became interested in the placer mining there, and remained until his death.
